UPRISING IN MEXICO

GOVERNMENT FACING SERIOUS SITUATION WITH MAYAS OF YUCATAN.

BATTLE IS EXPECTED SOON

Troops being Rushed to Scene, Where Police and Judges Have Been Killed.

Vera Cruz, June 6.—The most serious uprising with which the Mexican government has had to deal in a long time has occurred in the state of Yucatan and troops are being rushed to the disturbed area. In the meantime, reports which have reached here indicate that there has been much bloodshed and that the insurgents are preparing for a battle with the government forces which is sure to come soon.

The independent newspaper, El Dictamen, publishes dispatches from Merida, the capital of Yucatan, to the effect that forty persons were killed by the Maya Indians on Saturday. Further dispatches received here state that 5,000 of these Indian insurgents sacked the town at Valladolid, ninety-five miles southeast of Merida, killing all the principal government employees, the Chief of Police and others. They seized rifles and pistols and instituted a reign of terror. Many of the inhabitants of Valladolid are fleeing to Merida.

The gunboat Morelos has already left this port with 600 soldiers

aboard, while the Yucatan gunboat Zaragoza is lying in the harbor ready to take 1,000 additional troops who are expected soon to arrive from the interior.

Railroad and telegraph communication between Merida and the scene of the trouble is now cut off. Twenty miles of the Yucatan railroad have been destroyed by the Indians.

It is reported that many telegraph operators have been killed or are prisoners. The Judge of the Criminal court is among the dead.

The rebels are strongly entrenched in anticipation of the advance of the federal troops. Maximiliano Ramirez Bonilla, the former rebel leader, and Col. Victor Montenegro are said to be at the head of the uprising.

The towns of Tinum, Uayama and Tunkas, all between Merida and Valladolid, have been attacked, but the reports say that the families of all the residents, except officials, have been unmolested. To what extent the insurgents pillaged or killed at these places has not yet been learned. A strict censorship has now been established.

Diaz Declines Invitation.

Mexico City, June 6.—President Diaz will not be present at the formal opening of the international bridge connecting Brownsville, Tex., and Matamoros, Mexico on July 21. It was announced tonight at the Foreign Office that he had declined an invitation issued by officials of the construction company to attend the dedicatory ceremonies, but he had authorized the appointment of a commissioner to represent him.

PRESIDENT MADRIZ SENDS REINFORCEMENTS

Termination of War Is Matter of Patience More Than Fighting.

Washington, June 6.—President Madriz is dispatching reinforcements, ammunition, mules and hospital equipment to Greytown, according to information received at the state department from Consul Olivares at Managua. In his telegram the consul expresses doubt of the feasibility of further military operations at this time, as the rainy season has set in.

He also says that Dr. Irias, in command of a negro woman who evidently understood to have said the capture of Bluefields Bluff makes the termination of the war in favor of Madriz a question of patience rather than fighting. The state department officials, in view of the fact that the revolutionists have won two important engagements within the last few days, are unable to understand the basis for Dr. Irias' view of the situation.

China Wants Parliament.

Pekin, June 6.—On Wednesday next a formal demand will be made upon the throne for the immediate convocation of a National Parliament. The authors of the exaction to be attempted are the delegates to the Provincial Assemblies who have the support of organizations of merchants.

The recently issued imperial decree constituting the Provincial Assemblies set forth that the way was being paved for a general legislative body to be summoned nine years after the first meeting of the assemblies.

Today delegates to the Provincial Assemblies are gathering here with the avowed purpose of exacting the issuance of an imperial decree summoning a national parliament forthwith.

FIREMEN GET INCREASED WAGES

Forty-nine Railroads Accede to the Demands of the Firemen.

Chicago, June 6.—Locomotive firemen on forty-nine western railroads were granted an increase in wages Saturday of about 7 1-2 per cent, or sixty per cent of the demands made last December and referred to arbitration under the Erdman act. About 25,000 union men were involved, but all the firemen, whether members of the union or not, will get the increase. There are about 32,000 employees on the roads involved.

Following are the changes:

Firemen on main lines and branch passenger service, 15 cents increase per 100 miles or less.

On through or irregular freight, mixed, gravel, work wrecks, helpers, pushers, snowplows and branch service (except mallet type of engines) 15 cents advance per 100 miles or less; on oil burners 15 cents advance.

On simple engines having cylinder 24 inches or over and compound engines weighing 215,000 pounds or more, not less than $3.75. On engines of less size on which more than $3.75 is paid there shall be no increases.

Firemen on local or way freights 25 cents advance per 100 miles or less over through rates established by this arbitration, except on roads having an eight-hour day or twelve and a half miles per hour basis for such runs. Firemen on mallet type of engines, $4 per 100 miles in all classes of service.

Firemen in yard service, 25 cents advance per day. Where rates of pay are provided for transfer service, an increase of 25 cents per day. On lines where wages are negotiated through the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen committees for hostlers, switch engineers and engine dispatchers, an increase of 25 cents a day.

The increase shall be based on rates of pay in effect January 1, 1910.

Don't Delay.

BOUNDARY LINE BILL DEFEATED

No Roll Call Necessary—The Defeat by Viva Voice Was Sustained.

Washington, June 6.—The House today voted down Representative Stephens' bill providing for the remarking of the Texas-Oklahoma-New Mexico boundary lines. The defeat came in a viva voce vote so certain that no roll call was necessary. The opposition to the bill was led by Representative Carter of Oklahoma, who contended that the bill had not been modified so as to leave Oklahoma out of the arrangement if it should choose not to participate.

Judge Stephens had provided that land titles should not be disturbed by the survey, but this did not satisfy the Oklahomans, who did not want to run the risk of losing any land by the survey. This will end all prospect of legislation at this session of congress on this subject.

NEGRO SHOT WHILE UNDER GUARD

Brute Who Had Attempted Criminal Assault on Little Girl Killed While Under Arrest.

McAlester, Okla., June 6.—Bill Grubb, also known as Grubb Batson, a negro who attempted to criminal assault at Krebs at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, was assassinated here Monday while under guard. There is no clue to the slayer's identity.

A negro attempted to assault a little girl. She resisted him and was struck over the head with a six-shooter. Another girl who was with her was struck on the head with a stone.

Grub came to McAlester and surrendered to Sheriff Harrison when he learned that he was suspected. He was taken to Krebs for identification and while being guarded in the rear of Reid's drug store suddenly a shot-gun held by an unidentified man was poked through the door. It was fired, and the charge carried Grubb's head away. He fell dead. Neither of the girls was seriously injured.

VOTE AGAINST AMENDMENT.

The News has hesitated to become editorially urgent in advocacy of the defeat at the polls next Saturday of the Carter amendment to article 9, section 9 for the reason, we were at first predisposed in its favor and desired to support the enactment of such amendment, it could consistently, on account of personal attachment for Dorsett Carter, president of the Oklahoma Central Railway, who leads in its support and who declares that unless the amendment carries, he will become financially ruined.

It is now sincerely believed that the success of the Carter Railroad Amendment to section 9 at the polls next Saturday would be very hurtful to the interests of the rank and file of the people and retardful of greater railroad construction and development of Oklahoma. Whether the Carter amendment should carry or be defeated next Saturday should be of grave concern for the question involves much. Viewing it this way, the acting president and secretary of the 25,000 club have called a meeting of the business interests of the city at the court house for tomorrow (Wednesday) night, for the purposes of considering the advisability of taking action on the proposed amendment to section 9, article 9 of the constitution.

DOES SEC. 9, ART. 9 RETARD RAILROAD BUILDING? NO!

Oklahoma held sixth place among the states and territories of the United States in 1909 in railroad construction. She was just 1 1/2 miles behind fifth place. She is second among the states and territories of the union in new companies chartered during the first four months of 1910.

Texas leads the country in both showing. Taking area into consideration, Oklahoma leads Texas and the entire United States.

The figures supporting these statements are fresh from the press. Slason Thompson of Chicago, a railway statistical expert, has just issued a book entitled, "Railway Statistics in the United States," in which he presents complete figures on railway construction for the calendar year 1909; and the Railway Record, a railway publication published in Chicago, presents figures on new companies and mileage chartered during the first four months of 1910, its figures representing sixteen states, mostly in the south, where the railway activities of the country centers at this time.

Slason Thompson prefaces his book with the explanation that government railway statistics for the past few years seem to have been prepared with the purpose of misleading the public as to financial results of railway operation, and that his work is issued for the purpose of putting before the public the railway's own deductions from the figures they report to the Interstate Commerce Commission. It gives construction mileage for the various states, does not discuss financial results as to the state separately.

It shows that forty-two states and territories built railway during 1909. The total mileage constructed was 4,040.6 or an average of 96.2 miles for the states showing any construction. Taking all states and territories into consideration the average for the year was 80.8 miles.

Oklahoma is credited with 163.2 miles, which shows this state to have built 57 miles more in 1909 than the average for the states and territories showing results, and 82.4 miles more than the average for all the states. Of the forty-two states showing construction 36 show less mileage than Oklahoma. Five show more, making Oklahoma sixth on the list. Minnesota built 164.7 against Oklahoma's 163.2 miles.

This showing doubtless will be a matter of surprise to many Oklahoma citizens, who have supposed that Oklahoma's strict regulation laws had subjected this state to unfavorable comparison in that particular. A further interesting feature of the comparison is that Texas, with regulation measures in many respects identical with those of Oklahoma, leads the entire country. Furthermore if territorial area be taken into consideration in the comparison, Oklahoma leads Texas.

The other states showing more 1909 mileage construction than Oklahoma are California, Washington and Nevada. All the territories, including Alaska, Arizona, New Mexico and the District of Columbia, show new mileage in 1909. Although conditions in Arizona and New Mexico are inviting for railway investment, there being much agricultural and mining development and no strict regulation of operations, and although their combined area is more than three times that of Oklahoma, this state shows 1909 construction double that of Arizona and New Mexico combined. The states that show no construction of railway whatever in 1909 are Massachusetts, Vermont, Delaware, Rhode Island, Connecticut, and the western states of Iowa, North Dakota and South Dakota. Oklahoma's record for 1909 is just seven miles less than that of Nebraska, Ohio, Utah, Wyoming, Missouri, Indiana, Illinois and Idaho combined.

ATTACKS ALASKAN POLICY

People Must Pay Six and Ten Prices for Fuel, Declares Senator, on Floor.

Washington, June 6.—Declaring Alaska had been put in a "straight jacket" by the withdrawal of public lands, Senator Nelson in the senate today sharply criticised the policy of conservation as practiced in that territory. Senator Nelson was discussing the bill authorizing the president to withdraw from entry public lands for public purposes, which he advocated. Mr. Nelson's declaration attracted especial attention because he is chairman of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee.

Mr. Nelson said while he gave his adherence to a conservation policy, he did so only when it was rational and conservative. He would have the public resources so administered as to afford the living generation the opportunity of the full and proper use of them.

"There will be plenty of water power hundreds of years after we are dead," he said. "No man can stop it unless he can stop precipitation from the clouds. Why should our supply of coal be tied up and the people prevented from utilizing that fuel?"

Discussing the application of the conservation policy to Alaska, he dwelt upon the fact that except in the extreme southern part of that territory there was no timber, and that consequently the people were without fuel unless they were allowed to use the coal supply of that region.

In face of the fact that there are valuable coal fields in various parts of the territory, the people have not been given opportunity to use a ton of it, with the consequence that they are compelled to bring their fuel either from Australia or China or around the Horn from our own eastern states. Hence they are compelled to pay from $12 to $20 per ton when they ought to get it for $2.00."

This he denounced as "conservation run riot." Between the withdrawal for coal deposits, he declared, Alaska, has been put in a straight jacket and is great restricted.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE THEN BLAMES MOTHER-IN-LAW

Oklahoma City, May 6.—Because his wife would not return to him, Bert Shields, 28 years old, tried to commit suicide by drinking morphine at 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning at the home of his wife, 722 East First street.

Shields, who was despondent because his wife had left him and refused to return, bought a small bottle of morphine early Sunday morning and went to his wife's home, where he started to drink it before her. He swallowed a third of the contents before the bottle was knocked out of his hands. Dr. C. E. Looney, city physician, was called and Shields was taken to the city dispensary, where he revived, and was removed to his home.

Shields, who lives at 15 South Webb street, married Miss Stella Young four months ago and according to the story told by Shields at the police station Sunday morning, they had lived happily until last Wednesday night, when her mother came to the house and finally succeeded in persuading his wife to return home with her.

"I went to her mother's home every night since she left me," said Shields "and tried to get her to return home with me. Sometimes she nearly consented to do so, but her mother always stepped in and would not let her go. I wanted to die because I can't live without her."

Mr. Murray in Stillwell.

Wm. H. Murray, president of the constitutional convention and speaker of the first legislature of Oklahoma, spoke in the opera house in this city last Friday afternoon. His theme was "Murray for Governor of Oklahoma at the hands of the democrats."

The distinguished speaker was introduced by Representative Thos. L. Rider, and for two hours Mr. Murray held his audience spell-bound with eloquence and logic. His talk was clean and pertinent to the occasion, and without malice expressed or implied to any opposing him. He advocated better roads, good schools, and laws in general to bring happiness to homes. His tribute to home—his ideal of home—brought tears to such old men as Judge B. F. Paden, J. V. McPherson, and a swelling of the heart to most all his hearers. Mr. Murray made many friends by his short visit here, and a larger audience will greet him when he comes again.—Adair County Sentinel, May 19.

WOMAN SROOTS HER HUSBAND

Who Had Stabbed Her Twice—Trouble Originated in Divorce Suit.

Guthrie, Okla., June 6.—To protect herself from her husband, who was lying in wait to kill her and who stabbed her twice before she could break away from him, Mrs. Fannie Baker fired three shots from a thirty-eight caliber revolver at her husband, Flemming C. Baker at 8 o'clock Monday morning.

Two of the shots took effect, one in the right leg near the body and the other in the left side. The man was taken to the Methodist hospital, where attending physicians say he has a chance to recover. Mrs. Baker was taken to the Metropolitan hotel in a serious condition. She is extremely nervous as a result of her wounds and the excitement incident to the affair.

In trying to overpower Baker, Ohio Miller, a patrolman, was cut on the head by the infuriated man, who threatened to kill both the officer and his wife.

Gave Her Warning.

Mrs. Baker was returning to Guthrie from Wichita, where she had been visiting. Baker had written her telling her that he intended to kill her when she returned.

The Guthrie authorities were notified and an officer was detailed to watch Baker. Baker went to the Santa Fe depot Monday morning, evidently expecting his wife's arrival. He was standing at the north end of the depot under the surveillance of a patrolman when the train pulled in.

When Mrs. Baker alighted from the train Baker outran the officer, drawing a knife from his pocket as he drew near his wife. He caught the woman and plunged the blade twice into her body.

Officer Miller reached the man and pulled him away when his wife fired. The officer was obliged to strike Baker over the head with his night stick in order to subdue him.

In Divorce Court.

The origin of the trouble dates back several years and does not seem to be fully known. Baker at one time shot at his father-in-law, whom he accuses of trying to break up his home.

May 2 Mrs. Miller filed suit for a divorce, alleging cruelty, jealousy and incompatibility of temper. The case was to be tried at this term of court.

Baker came into the limelight here several years ago when he put the local officers on the track of a negro who had impersonated an officer, took a 13-year-old white girl from the depot, led her to a lonely spot on the Cottonwood creek, and outraged her. Baker had seen the negro talking to the child and notified the officers.

ABERNATHY BOYS ON FINAL STRETCH FOR NEW YORK

Washington, June 6.—On their long horseback ride from Oklahoma to New York, where they are riding to meet Roosevelt, Louis and Temple Abernathy, nine and 6 years old, sons of United States Marshal "Jack" Abernathy, wolf hunter and friend of Roosevelt, left the national capital Monday morning. Since leaving their home in Oklahoma the little fellows, traveling unaccompanied, have averaged about fifty miles per day. They spent about a week taking in the sights of Washington. While in this city they called on President Taft and also met Speaker Cannon. They rode as far as Baltimore Monday by noon.

NEW FISH FUND STORY

Money He Got Was Spent for Lobby, He Declares to Jury.

Springfield, Ill., June 6.—The testimony of F. J. Traut of Beardstown, to whom the fishermen's fund to defeat the fishing license bill in the last legislature has been traced, was a witness before the grand jury investigating charges of bribery in connection with the bill, today.

Traut's version of the fishermen's fund differed from that he gave Saturday night to State's Attorney Burke when, according to Mr. Burke, he said he kept the money. To the grand jury Traut said he spent the money for the fishermen's lobby against the bill. He was ordered before the jury tomorrow, and meantime Mr. Burke has gone to Beardstown to investigate his story.

E. E. Schweer of Beardstown told the jurors of bringing the money collected to Springfield and giving it to John Dixon, who has already declared he delivered it to Traut. Schweer declared he knew nothing regarding alleged payment of money to defeat the bill. Charles Gridley, attorney, of Virginia, Ill., who represented the fishers in the Springfield lobby, was given a clean bill by Mr. Burke, after he had testified before the grand jury and had declared that his work was purely professional.

Ralph O. Lord, bookkeeper for Henry Lemm of Pekin, one of the contributors to the fish fund, was before the grand jury and identified the check which Lemm gave as his share of the fund.

BIG JUMP IN APRIL BIRTH RATES

State Has 2,057 Births to 700 Deaths. Boys Are Very Popular.

The population of the state of Oklahoma took the biggest jump in months during the month of April, 1910, according to the official figures of the state board of health, which reports 2,057 births, as opposed to 700 deaths.

In the birth list the males were in the majority, with 1,069, females totaling 988. Only fifty-five were black as opposed to 2,002 whites.

The males headed the mortality list with 381, against 319 females; 614 were white and 86 black.

Pneumonia accounted for 113 deaths, typhoid fever, 19, tuberculosis, 59 and smallpox 11 deaths out of 475 cases.

Was in Battle of Waterloo.

London, June 6.—It generally was supposed that every human being present at Waterloo had crossed that bourne from which no traveler returns. In Queenstown, Cape Colony, however, there is, or was a couple months ago, still living an old man named Mesdom, now 105 years old, who was a drummer boy at Waterloo. A correspondent who knows Queenstown well forwards a copy of the Queenstown Representative and Free Press of April 22 containing the following paragraph:

"Mr. J. Mesdom, an old resident of Queenstown, who is at present in his 105th year, has been in the Frontier hospital for the last week. He wishes all his friends to know that he is feeling much better, and hopes to be about again soon. At the same time from appearances it seems hardly probable that he will ever leave his bed again, and an old landmark of Queenstown will be missed."

The correspondent knew the old man well, and has no doubt that he really was at Waterloo. The old man's death was reported incorrectly some time ago.

Battle Hymn Composer Dies.

New York, June 6.—Stephen Van Rensselaer Ford, author, editor, composer and critic, a member of one of the oldest families in the central part of the state, died yesterday at his home here. He was 74 years old.

For many years Mr. Ford was connected with the Methodist Book Concern in an editorial capacity, and had been assistant editor of the Methodist Review. He composed several battle hymns which were sung by the Union army. A widow, two daughters and a son survive him.

MEMORIAL SERVICES SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Sunday afternoon according to announcement, the members of the W. L. Byrd Camp of Confederate Veterans met at the court house, formed line and marched in a body to the First Presbyterian church where at three o'clock they held their annual memorial in commemoration of the lives and services of their comrades who had "passed over the river and rested in the shades of the trees of Paradise," during the past year.

There was special music both instrumental and vocal by Misses Case and Thompson, and among the beautifully impressive selections was a vocal solo by Miss Case, "Death is Only a Dream."

Capt. W. L. Roddie gave an interesting and splendid address on the lives and services of the comrades who had deceased the past year and vindicated the stand they took in the great lost cause. Leslie M. Maxey delivered an address, the theme of which was "The Southern Soldier," the lessons learned from his life and character.

First he gave a complete vindication and justification of the South's action in the matter of secession, establishing the legal, moral and historical right; secondly, he gave the lessons that the heroic Confederate soldier taught us by his example in war, and his noble bearing in defeat.

Prof. Chas. W. Briles was called on to make a talk and he graciously complied with the request after which he gave a reading which he had been taught as a boy by one who wore the grey. To say his remarks, his reading, were greatly appreciated and deeply impressive would be putting it far too mildly.

COUNTY'S DEMURRER SUSTAINED

County Attorney Robt. Wimbish, who is now at Guthrie, phoned W. S. Kerr today that as to the best our understanding, Judge Sandlin of the superior court of Logan county has sustained the demurrer to a petition by which the railroads would injoin the collection of certain taxes in this county. This appears to be a victory for the county in matter of tax collecting. Judge Sandlin also decides that Indians must pay taxes on all their land from which the restrictions have been removed.

NEGRESS GETS "SASSY"

Yesterday evening while Chief Culver was making his rounds he came across a negro woman who evidently thought it an insult to be asked if she were working. She became highly indignant at a question to that effect from the officer and proceeded to give him her unreserved opinion on the matter whereupon he conducted her before the police judge who proceeded to give her some practical advice on civil conduct. She promises to bear it in mind hence forth.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS MEET

The county commissioners met Monday as it was the regular meeting day. There was nothing more than the regular routine of business transacted. As some of the assessors were not ready with their reports business of equalizing taxes was held over. The commissioners adjourned at noon today to meet Monday.

CRAP SHOOTERS FINED

D. L. Crutchie, colored and John Cragin, white, were brought before the police court yesterday evening on the charge of shooting craps. The white man plead guilty and paid the assessed fine, while the negro entered a plea of guilty, and not paying the fine was committed to the city jail.

NOT ISSUES IN CAMPAIGN

Gubernatorial Candidate, Judge J. B. A. Robertson, Declares the Issues.

A small but attentive audience greeted Judge Robertson of Chandler last night to hear him present his claims to the governorship of Oklahoma. He spoke in a clear cut business manner and his central idea was that the democrats could all unite on him. In his preliminary remarks he prized the friendship of Lee Cruce and Murray, saying they were honest and capable men for the position to which they aspired and assured the audience there would be no mud slinging on his part in the campaign. But that he would not take up time in the discussion of matters which he did not deem issues in the campaign, mentioning as such the pardoning power of the governor, the white slave traffic, and education, saying all were practically agreed on those matters. Continuing he declared that there are some things which the people have a right to know how the candidates stand, pausing to add that he himself being a positive man would deem it a favor to be called out on these subjects during any time of his speech. Among the things he claimed were real issues was the so-called proposed repeal of Sec. 9, Art. 9 of the Oklahoma constitution. On this he dwelt at length and showed by irrefutable argument that the proposed amendment to the Art. 9 should be defeated. He mentioned the fact that a man's training fits or unfits him for a certain station in life, claiming that he was brought up to work for what he had attained, learning the lesson of rigid economy and would practice this lesson if he were exalted to the high office of his aspiration.

Card of Thanks.

To those friends who so kindly assisted us in the last sickness and death of our little daughter Thelma Francis, whose little spirit took its flight at 8:30 last Sunday morning the 5th, we wish to say that words are not sufficient to express our thanks to you, but will always hold you dear to our hearts, and in our memory can see you as you set with us day after day and night after night, to assist us in doing all that human hearts and hands can do, your many acts of kindness will never be forgotten, by us, and will always be remembered as the acts of ministering angels, and shows to us plainly that you are Christians with the spirit of Him who said to visit the widow and the orphan and to administer to the sick and afflicted was pure and undefiled religion, in this hour of sorrow we want to ask your prayers to the end that we may be able to bare up under this great load and that he who only can bring comfort to the broken heart will administer the healing balm to our sad hearts. Again thanking you from the depth of our hearts for your kindness we are your friends,

R. C. Roland and Family.

HON. J. W. DEAN, VERY ILL

FOR 5 WEEKS CONVALESCING

Hon. J. W. Dean, who has been ill for five weeks today, is slowly convalescing and it will not be long until he can be among his friends again and engaged with his duties as assistant county attorney.

Mr. Dean's professional friends and, in deed, all who know him have been much concerned in their regard for his early recovery since he has been ill.

The community will sympathize with Mrs. Dean, for besides the long illness of her husband the baby has been and continues seriously ill.

Business needs more confidence based on conviction.

Advertising is only as old as the human race.

Above all things, let us be honest with ourselves.

I see no signs of advertising being overdone, but I think a lot of it is underdone.

Advertising is simply the voice of the market-place speaking to all men in the highways and byways.

A theory is just the plan of work before it is done; it is the plan of the building before it is built.

At every stage of business development education is needed on both the buyer's and seller's side of the case.

There is really nothing new in business. The newest things are but combinations of old truisms and activities.

I confess to an impatience with the man who pursues a theory through a pot of ink for the mere sport of the chase.

Webster says that business is that which busies one; a pig's tail is busy, but it never does anything. There are a good many pig's tails in business.

I am not impressed with the testimony of the man who said, "he had been in the advertising business for K. C. Wagon Yard."

ten years and knew less today than when he started."

Advertising has created wealth; it has made happiness; it has educated people in business morals; it has educated the people in liberty, and it has carried civilization to the ends of the earth.

MOTHER WOULD GET HER CHILD THROUGH COURT

Guthrie, Okla., June 6.—Seeking to regain possession of her little girl, Nannie, Mrs. Rosa Martin has secured a writ of habeas corpus from the state supreme court.

Mrs. Martin secured a divorce at Pryor Creek and was awarded the custody of the child. She alleges that her former husband, Richard Martin has kidnapped the little girl and is likely to take her outside the jurisdiction of the state courts.

Martin is now living at Pawhuska and Mrs. Martin in her petition to the supreme court expresses a belief that he has the child concealed in or about that town.

The writ of habeas corpus was issued by Justice John B. Turner, and is directed to any sheriff or other peace officer of the state, directing him to take possession of the child and make return forthwith to Judge T. L. Brown in the district court of Mayes county at Pryor Creek, where the divorce was granted and the decree rendered regarding the custody of the child.

HAIR NATURALLY ABUNDANT.

When It Is Free of Dandruff, It Grows Luxuriantly.

Hair preparations and dandruff cures, as a rule, are sticky or irritating affairs that do no earthly good. Hair, when not diseased, grows naturally, luxuriantly. Dandruff is the cause of nine-tenths of all hair trouble, and dandruff is caused by a germ. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ; and, so far, the only hair preparation that will positively destroy the germ is Newbro's Herpicide—absolutely harmless, free from grease, sediment, dye matter or dangerous drugs. It allays itching instantly; makes hair glossy and soft as silk. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. CHARGED WITH KILLING

FATHER, MOTHER BROTHER

Marshalltown, Ia., June 6.—A pair of bloody overalls and a bloody hat which the authorities are using as evidence to connect Raymond Hardy with the murder of his father, James Hardy, his mother and brother Earl, who were discovered early this morning with their skulls beaten to a pulp, were found on the Hardy farm here tonight.

Since there was every evidence that an effort had been made to conceal the wearing apparel, the authorities pinned young Hardy down to a statement, and he admitted that he had hidden them in fear that he might be connected with the crime.

The bloody spots were fresh, but they were not wet when found. Young Hardy declared that the spots were caused by chicken blood. He was also asked to explain his whereabouts from the time he left home at 7 o'clock in the evening until he arrived at the home of his affianced bride, Miss Mabel Starnes, whom he was to have married Wednesday. Hardy protests his innocence.

To Re-argue Seizure Case.

Guthrie, Ok., June 7.—Fred S. Caldwell, state enforcement attorney, has been notified that the supreme court of the United States has ordered a re-argument of the cases filed by Governor Haskell and Enforcement Attorney Caldwell, seeking writs of prohibition against Federal Judges Cottrell and Campbell of Oklahoma to prevent them from enforcing orders to enjoin state officers from seizing liquors at depots which have come into the state through interstate carriers.

When the case was argued on April 4 only seven of the nine members of the supreme court were present. The court now has ordered a re-argument before the entire court. Mr. Caldwell says he feels encouraged at this action, as it indicates that the supreme court considers the question a serious one and that it will pass upon it directly.

The Oklahoma position is that all interstate shipments of liquors, as soon as delivered at destination, should be subject to seizure for a judicial determination as to whether the shipment is subjected to protection from the interstate commerce laws, or whether it was shipped into the state with intent to violate the state laws and has ceased to be interstate commerce.

HAD FUN WITH HIS CRITICS

Chief Moore of the Weather Bureau Joined in Abuse That Was Being Heaped Upon Him.

On one occasion Prof. Willis Luther Moore, head of the United States weather bureau, traveled from Washington to New York in a smoking compartment with three men who, when he encountered them, were busily engaged in roasting the very bureau of which Moore was the chief.

"Why, that fellow Moore," said one of the strangers, "ought to be run out of the government service. He always predicts, but he's generally wrong."

"He's a dub, like all the rest of those fellows," said the second, apparently indicating with a sweep of his hand the whole government service.

"Look what he did last inauguration day!" chimed in the third. "Said it would be clear, and we had enough snow to tie up every railroad system in the country."

Moore, who has a sense of humor, got into the roasting bee at this moment.

"Rotten!" he said emphatically. "I'd like to meet that fellow and tell him what I really think of him."

"But he's got the farmers bluffed," conceded the second speaker.

And so the abuse was heaped on the professor for more than a hundred miles, Moore himself helping in the tirade. Before it was over, the weather bureau and all connected with it had been put in the pan and roasted to a rich dark brown.

When the party left the train, Moore called a taxicab, and so did the other three. Just as the professor stepped into his vehicle and left his companions standing on the sidewalk, he handed them his card, on which was engraved:

"Willis L. Moore, Chief of the Weather Bureau, U. S. A."—Popular Magazine.

SOCIETY PLYING THE NEEDLE

Most Feminine of Implements Comes Into Fashion Again Chiefly as "Rest Cure."

"Those who are quick to observe changes in the moods and tastes of society will tell you," says a writer in the Lady's Pictoria, "that the doing of fine needlework is growing into great favor with even the most fashionable of our mondaines, whose own fingers are producing work that is fully equal to the best specimens of their much lauded and perhaps over-lauded grandmothers.

"A lady who has had the honor to be the instructress of royalty in this craft says that hundreds came to her for counsel where tens came but a few years ago. The cause of this reversion to the pursuits of a more placid age is not difficult to discover. Such an occupation becomes virtually a 'rest cure' in this epoch of rush and motor cars, and that is why many of those who have been the most indefatigable seekers after novelty and excitement are now among the most industrious Penelopes of society.

"The rhythmic movement that accompanies the plying of the needle is peculiarly soothing to the nerves, and produces much the same effect as the prayers of the Orientals, with their swaying to and fro and their apparently vain repetitions. It is a mistake to suppose that needle work is injurious to the eyesight. Old needle women rarely wear glasses."

Milk Delivery in South Africa.

Until quite recently the dairymen of Salisbury, South Africa, used the native in preference to the usual cart for delivering milk. The native wears a canvas bottleholder, capable of carrying 18 bottles with the minimum risk of breakage. This mode of milk-carrying was really forced upon the dairymen by their losses in the early days from horse sickness, and from the inability of the raw native to handle horses and mules, much less drive the cart itself without capsizing. The last year, however, has seen the passing away of this custom, milk now being delivered in prosaic but businesslike fashion by carts and by boys on bicycles. In the latter case the canvas bottle carriers are still worn.—Wide World Magazine.

Marriages in France.

It is an interesting and noteworthy fact that since the promulgation of the law of June, 1907, the effect of which is to simplify the formalities which are the necessary preliminaries to marriage in France, there have been more weddings in France than at any period since the beginning of the last century, with the exception of the years 1813 and 1872, in the former of which men contracted unions to escape being sent off to fight, while in the latter many weddings took place which had been delayed by the war with Germany.

Plowing by Searchlight.

Several score immense power breaking outfits are at work in western South Dakota, and at points in the Missouri valley east of the river, breaking the prairie at an astonishing rate, which means that many thousands of heretofore raw prairie land in those sections will this year for the first time be devoted to crops.

Some of the power outfits have been provided with day and night crews and with immense searchlights which enable them to be operated in the night as well as in the day, they being kept in operation continuously throughout the 24 hours.—Sioux Falls Correspondence St. Paul Dispatch.

His Mysterious Malady

Bobby sat up and threw off the afghan impatiently. "I feel fine now," he said. "I guess I'll go out for awhile."

His father shook his head. "Hold on a minute," he commanded. "Where are all those perfectly terrible sensations you had yesterday when you stayed home from school?"

"Oh, well, that was a whole day and a night ago," protested Bobby. "A feller could get well of 'most anything in that time."

"Especially as this is Saturday afternoon," said his father, thoughtfully. "You considered yourself a pretty sick boy yesterday."

"I was," said Bobby. "Gee, I felt something fierce! I never felt worse in my life."

"Then don't you think you ought to be very careful today?"

"If it was going to be anything it would have gone and done it by now," said Bobby. "Besides, I feel swell. I wouldn't 'a' laid down here, only mamma said I had to. I wish I knew what did it."

"What did you do on Thursday that was particularly festive?"

"Well, it was like this," Bobby began. "Nellie Foster she made fudge and, of course, I got some of it. It was swell, all right, only Billy didn't get a big piece and he whispered that there was too much choc'ut in it. I didn't say a word, but teacher she heard somebody whisper and she said for me to go out of the room and wait downstairs for her."

"I said I didn't whisper, and she said: 'What makes you always take that attitude, Robert?'"

"I said I wasn't taking any attitude—all I had was fudge."

"Then she got mad and sent me home, because she said I was impatient."

"Out in the yard I saw Jimmy. His brother's got scarlet fever and he can't come to school, but he waits for us fellers outside. He had an apple and he gave it to me so's I'd tell him something Susie Herrick said. I had enough of Susie Herrick when she was in my room at school, but Jimmy likes her."

"Was it a good apple?"

"No," said Bobby. "But I wouldn't let on that I was stung, so I ate it."

"Did you go home then?"

"Sure not," acknowledged Bobby. "There wasn't any hurry. Me and Jimmy went over to the park and I got some peanuts for the squirrels. We couldn't find any squirrels, so we ate the peanuts ourselves. I'm going to plant peanuts and see how they grow. Billy he planted some last year and we watched for 'em to come up and then 'long about July he remembered they were cooked."

"I thought Billy lived in a flat."

"He does, but he borrowed our yard to plant the peanuts. You know that big white house on the corner of aunt Mary's street?"

"Yes."

"Well, who do you s'pose is going to live there? Just Mamie Kelly!" said Bobby, triumphantly. "I 'most fell over when she told me. Gee, she'll be more conceited than ever when she's got three lilac bushes and a woodshed in her yard."

"You were telling me what you did Thursday."

"Oh, so I was. Well, then I got some popcorn and we went home to lunch and I was awful hungry. I ate a lot and I took three bananas to school, so's I wouldn't be hungry in the afternoon. I was going to give one to Billy and one to Nellie Foster, but first thing I knew I ate them all. I was awful sorry I had when Nellie Foster gave me a big piece of choc'ut cake after school. It was some quashed from her carrying it in a bag, but it was awful good. I got her a ice cream cone, but she didn't want it, and I had to eat 'em both myself. I never seen—saw—a girl that didn't like ice cream before."

"It is rather unusual."

"She felt awful bad about it; she was afraid I'd be mad, specially because they was nickel ones, but I didn't care much. Mamie Kelly gave me two big pickles, but the cones was gone by that time, so she didn't get any."

"But you ate the pickles?"

"Yep, I did," acknowledged Bobby, sheepishly. "But I said 'Thanks' just as Sam came along, and she gave him one, too. Then, of course, Sam he gave us some choc'ut creams. Say, there's a place he knows about where you can get lots of 'em for ten cents. Gee, but they're swell!"

"Were they the best things you had that day?"

"I should say not!" cried Bobby, with enthusiasm. "Why, I had three pieces of strawberry shortcake for dinner."

"Well, perhaps it was the shortcake that saved your life."

"Mamma thinks it was the medicine," said Bobby. "I certainly feel fine now. If I stay here I'll just get weaker and weaker till I can't get up, so I'd like to go outdoors. There's a ball game over in the big lot and I'm to pitch."

"Are you sure you ought to go?"

"Oh, yes. I can't see how it helps any to keep a feller in bed when he gets sick like that without any reason. Anyhow, there's Billy whistling for me."

"All right," laughed his father. "Go ahead, but be careful not to eat any trash today."

Bobby paused a moment at the door. "Honest, papa," he said, seriously. "I'm awful careful what I eat, and I don't like trash. Honest, I don't."

UPRISING IN MEXICO

GOVERNMENT FACING SERIOUS SITUATION WITH MAYAS OF YUCATAN.

BATTLE IS EXPECTED SOON

Troops being Rushed to Scene, Where Police and Judges Have Been Killed.

Vera Cruz, June 6.—The most serious uprising with which the Mexican government has had to deal in a long time has occurred in the state of Yucatan and troops are being rushed to the disturbed area in the meantime, reports which have reached here indicate that there has been much bloodshed and that the insurgents are preparing for a battle with the government forces which is sure to come soon.

The independent newspaper El Dictamen publishes dispatches from Merida, the capital of Yucatan to the effect that forty persons were killed by the Maya Indians on Saturday. It also publishes dispatches received here that 3,000 of these Indian insurgents sacked the town at Valladolid, ninety-five miles southeast of Merida killing all the principal government employees the Chief of Police and others. They seized rifles and pistols and instituted a reign of terror. Many of the inhabitants of Valladolid are fleeing to Merida.

The gunboat Violelos has already left this port with 600 soldiers aboard while the Yucatan gunboat Zaragoza is lying in the harbor ready to take 1,000 additional troops who are expected soon to arrive from the interior.

Railroad and telegraph communication between Merida and the scene of the trouble is now cut off. Twenty miles of the Yucatan railroad have been destroyed by the Indians.

It is reported that many telegraph operators have been killed or are prisoners. The Judge of the Criminal court is among the dead.

The rebels are strongly entrenched in anticipation of the advance of the federal troops. Maximiliano Ramirez Bonilla the former rebel leader, and Col Victor Montenegro are said to be at the head of the uprising.

The towns of Tinum, Uayama and Tunkas all between Merida and Valladolid, have been attacked, but the reports say that the families of all the residents, except officials, have been unmolested. To what extent the insurgents pillaged or killed at these places has not yet been learned. A strict censorship has now been established.

Diaz Declines Invitation.

Mexico City June 6.—President Diaz will not be present at the formal opening of the international bridge connecting Brownsville, Tex. and Matamoros, Mexico on July 21. It was announced tonight at the Foreign Office that he had declined an invitation issued by officials of the construction company to attend the dedication ceremonies but he had authorized the appointment of a commissioner to represent him.

PRESIDENT MADRIZ SENDS REINFORCEMENTS

Termination of War Is Matter of Patience More Than Fighting.

Washington, June 6.—President Madriz is dispatching reinforcements ammunition, mules and hospital equipment to Gretna, according to information received at the state department from Consul Olivares at Managua. In his telegram the consul expresses doubt of the feasibility of further military operations at this time, as the rainy season has set in.

He also says that Dr. Irias in command of a negro woman who evidently understood to have said the capture of Bluefields Bluff makes the termination of the war in favor of Madriz a question of patience rather than fighting. The state department officials in view of the fact that the revolutionists have won two important engagements within the last few days are unable to understand the basis for Dr. Irias' view of the situation.

China Wants Parliament.

Peking June 6.—On Wednesday next a formal demand will be made upon the throne for the immediate convocation of a National Parliament. The authors of the exaction to be attended to the delegates to the Provincial Assemblies who have the support of organizations of merchants.

The recently issued imperial decree constituting the Provincial Assembly set forth that the way was being paved for a general legislative body to be summoned nine years after the first meeting of the assemblies.

Today delegates to the Provincial Assemblies are gathering here with the avowed purpose of exacting the issuance of an imperial decree summoning a national parliament forthwith.

FIREMEN GET INCREASED WAGES

Forty-nine Brotherhoods Agree to the Demands of the Firemen

Chicago June 6.—Locomotion men on forty-nine railroad lines were granted an increase in wages Saturday of about 7 1/2 per cent or sixty per cent of the demands made last December and related to arbitration under the Edman act. About 600 union men were involved but all the firemen whether members of the union or not will get the increase. There are about 200 employees on the roads involved.

Following are the changes:
Locomotion men 10 cents increase
Passenger service 10 cents increase
Per 100 miles or less

On through or irregular freight mixed gravel work wrecks helpers pushers snowplows and branch service (except mallet type of engines) 15 cents advance per 100 miles or less on oil burners 10 cents advance

On simple engines having cylinder 24 inches or over and compound engines weighing 21,000 pounds or more not less than $375. On engines of less size on which more than $375 is paid there shall be no increases

Firemen on local or way freights 25 cents advance per 100 miles or less over through rates established by this arbitration except on roads having an eight-hour day or twelve and a half miles per hour basis for such runs. Firemen on mallet type of engines $4 per 100 miles in all classes of service

Firemen in yard service, 25 cents advance per day. Where rates of pay are provided for transfer service, an increase of 25 cents per day. On lines where wages are negotiated through the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen committees for hostlers, switch engineers and engine dispatchers, an increase of 25 cents a day

The increase shall be based on rates of pay in effect January 1, 1910.

Don't Delay.

BOUNDARY LINE BILL DEFEATED

No Roll Call Necessary—The Bill by Veto Was Sustained

Washington June 6.—The House today voted down Representative Stephens' bill providing for the reorganization of the Texas-Oklahoma-New Mexico boundary lines. The defeat came in a vote of 191 to 189. It was not so certain that no roll call was necessary. The opposition to the bill was led by Representative Carter of Oklahoma who contended that the bill had not been modified so as to leave Oklahoma out of the arrangement. It should also not be participated.

Judge Stephens had moved that the bill should not be disturbed by the survey but this did not satisfy the Oklahomans who did not want to run the risk of losing any land by the survey. This will end all prospect of legislation at this session of congress on this subject.

NEGRO SHOT WHILE UNDER GUARD

Brute Who Had Attempted Criminal Assault on Little Girl Killed While Under Arrest

Meriden, Okla., June 6.—Bill Grubb also known as Grubb Watson a negro who attempted to criminal assault at Krebs at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon was arrested here Monday while under guard. There is no clue to the slay's identity.

A negro attempted to assault a little girl. She resisted but was struck over the head with a six-shooter. Another girl who was with her was struck on the head with a stone.

Grubb came to Meriden and attempted to shoot off his gun when he learned it was expected. He was taken to Krebs for identification and while being guarded in the rear of Ridd's store still in a shot-gun held by an unidentified man was poked through the door. It was fired and the charge exploded. Grubb held away. He fell dead. Neither of the girls was seriously injured.

VOTE AGAINST AMENDMENT.

The News has hesitated to become editorially urgent in advocacy of the defeat at the polls next Saturday of the Carter amendment to article 9, section 9 for the reason, we were at first predisposed in its favor and desired to support the enactment of such amendment, it could consistently, on account of personal attachment for Dorsett Carter, president of the Oklahoma Central Railway, who leads in its support and who declares that unless the amendment carries, he will become financially ruined.

It is now sincerely believed that the success of the Carter Railroad Amendment to section 9 at the polls next Saturday would be very hurtful to the interests of the rank and file of the people and retardful of greater railroad construction and development of Oklahoma. Whether the Carter amendment should carry or be defeated next Saturday should be of grave concern for the question involves much. Viewing it this way, the acting president and secretary of the 25,000 club have called a meeting of the business interests of the city at the court house for tomorrow (Wednesday) night, for the purposes of considering the advisability of taking action on the proposed amendment to section 9, article 9 of the constitution.

DOES SEC. 9, ART. 9 RETARD RAILROAD BUILDING? NO!

Oklahoma held sixth place among the states and territories of the United States in 1909 in railroad construction. She was just 1-2 miles behind fifth place. She is second among the states and territories of the union in new companies chartered during the first four months of 1910.

Texas leads the country in both showing. Taking area into consideration, Oklahoma leads Texas and the entire United States.

The figures supporting these statements are fresh from the press. Slason Thompson of Chicago, a railway statistical expert, has just issued a book entitled, "Railway Statistics in the United States," in which he presents complete figures on railway construction for the calendar year 1909; and the Railway Record, a railway publication published in Chicago, presents figures on new companies and mileage chartered during the first four months of 1910, its figures representing sixteen states, mostly in the south, where the railway activities of the country centers at this time.

Slason Thompson prefaces his book with the explanation that government railway statistics for the past few years seem to have been prepared with the purpose of misleading the public as to financial results of railway operation, and that his work is issued for the purpose of putting before the public the railway's own deductions from the figures they report to the Interstate Commerce Commission. It gives construction mileage for the various states, does not discuss financial results as to the state separately.

It shows that forty-two states and territories built railway during 1909. The total mileage constructed was 4,046 or an average of 96.2 miles for the states showing any construction. Taking all states and territories into consideration the average for the year was 80.8 miles.

Oklahoma is credited with 183.2 miles, which shows this state to have built 57 miles more in 1909 than the average for the states and territories showing results, and 82.4 miles more than the average for all the states. Of the forty-two states showing construction 36 show less mileage than Oklahoma. Five show more, making Oklahoma sixth on the list. Minnesota built 164.7 against Oklahoma's 183.2 miles.

This showing doubtless will be a matter of surprise to many Oklahoma citizens, who have supposed that Oklahoma's strict regulation laws had subjected this state to unfavorable comparison in that particular. A further interesting feature of the comparison is that Texas, with regulation measures in many respects identical with those of Oklahoma, leads the entire country. Furthermore if territorial area be taken into consideration in the comparison, Oklahoma leads Texas.

The other states showing more 1909 mileage construction than Oklahoma are California, Washington and Nevada. All the territories, including Alaska, Arizona, New Mexico and the District of Columbia, show new mileage in 1909. Although conditions in Arizona and New Mexico are inviting for railway investment, there being much agricultural and mining development and no strict regulation of operations, and although their combined area is more than three times that of Oklahoma, this state shows 1909 construction double that of Arizona and New Mexico combined. The states that show no construction of railway whatever in 1909 are Massachusetts, Vermont, Delaware, Rhode Island, Connecticut, and the western states 19.

of Iowa, North Dakota and South Dakota. Oklahoma's record for 1909 is just seven miles less than that of Nebraska, Ohio, Utah, Wyoming, Missouri, Indiana, Illinois and Idaho combined.

People Must Pay Six and Ten Prices for Fuel, Declares Senator, on Floor.

Washington, June 6.—Declaring Alaska had been put in a "straight jacket" by the withdrawal of public lands, Senator Nelson in the senate today sharply criticised the policy of conservation as practiced in that territory. Senator Nelson was discussing the bill authorizing the president to withdraw from entry public lands for public purposes, which he advocated. Mr. Nelson's declaration attracted especial attention because he is chairman of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee.

Mr. Nelson said while he gave his adherence to a conservation policy, he did so only when it was rational and conservative. He would have the public resources so administered as to afford the living generation the opportunity of the full and proper use of them.

"There will be plenty of water power hundreds of years after we are dead," he said. "No man can stop it unless he can stop precipitation from the clouds. Why should our supply of coal be tied up and the people prevented from utilizing that fuel?"

Discussing the application of the conservation policy to Alaska, he dwelt upon the fact that except in the extreme southern part of that territory there was no timber, and that consequently the people were without fuel unless they were allowed to use the coal supply of that region.

In face of the fact that there are valuable coal fields in various parts of the territory, the people have not been given opportunity to use a ton of it, with the consequence that they are compelled to bring their fuel either from Australia or China or around the Horn from our own eastern states. Hence they are compelled to pay from $12 to $20 per ton when they ought to get it for $2.00.

This he denounced as "conservation run riot." Between the withdrawal for coal deposits, he declared, Alaska, has been put in a straight jacket and is great restricted.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE THEN BLAMES MOTHER-IN-LAW

Oklahoma City, May 6.—Because his wife would not return to him, Bert Shields, 28 years old, tried to commit suicide by drinking morphine at 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning at the home of his wife, 722 East First street.

Shields, who was despondent because his wife had left him and refused to return, bought a small bottle of morphine early Sunday morning and went to his wife's home, where he started to drink it before her. He swallowed a third of the contents before the bottle was knocked out of his hands. Dr. C. E. Looney, city physician, was called and Shields was taken to the city dispensary, where he revived, and was removed to his home.

Shields, who lives at 15 South Webb street, married Miss Stella Young four months ago and according to the story told by Shields at the police station Sunday morning, they had lived happily until last Wednesday night, when her mother came to the house and finally succeeded in persuading his wife to return home with her.

"I went to her mother's home every night since she left me," said Shields "and tried to get her to return home with me. Sometimes she nearly consented to do so, but her mother always stepped in and would not let her go. I wanted to die because I can't live without her."

Mr. Murray in Stillwell.

Wm. H. Murray, president of the constitutional convention and speaker of the first legislature of Oklahoma, spoke in the opera house in this city last Friday afternoon. His theme was "Murray for Governor of Oklahoma at the hands of the democrats."

The distinguished speaker was introduced by Representative Thos. L. Rider, and for two hours Mr. Murray held his audience spell-bound with eloquence and logic. His talk was clean and pertinent to the occasion, and without malice expressed or implied to any opposing him. He advocated better roads, good schools, and laws in general to bring happiness to homes. His tribute to home—his ideal of home—brought tears to such old men as Judge B. F. Paden, J. V. McPherson, and a swelling of the heart to most all his hearers. Mr. Murray made many friends by his short visit here, and a larger audience will greet him when he comes again.—Ada County Sentinel, May 19.

WOMAN SHOTS HER HUSBAND

Who Had Stabbed Her Twice—Trouble Originated in Divorce Suit.

Guthrie, Okla., June 6.—To protect herself from her husband, who was lying in wait to kill her and who stabbed her twice before she could break away from him, Mrs. Fannie Baker fired three shots from a thirty-eight caliber revolver at her husband, Flemming C. Baker at 8 o'clock Monday morning.

Two of the shots took effect, one in the right leg near the body and the other in the left side. The man was taken to the Methodist hospital, where attending physicians say he has a chance to recover. Mrs. Baker was taken to the Metropolitan hotel in a serious condition. She is extremely nervous as a result of her wounds and the excitement incident to the affair.

On trying to overpower Baker, Ohio Miller, a patrolman, was cut on the head by the infuriated man, who threatened to kill both the officer and his wife.

Gave Her Warning.

Mrs. Baker was returning to Guthrie from Wichita, where she had been visiting. Baker had written her telling her that he intended to kill her when she returned.

The Guthrie authorities were notified and an officer was detailed to watch Baker. Baker went to the Santa Fe depot Monday morning, evidently expecting his wife's arrival. He was standing at the north end of the depot under the surveillance of a patrolman when the train pulled in.

When Mrs. Baker alighted from the train Baker outran the officer, drawing a knife from his pocket as he drew near his wife. He caught the woman and plunged the blade twice into her body.

Officer Miller reached the man and pulled him away when his wife fled. The officer was obliged to strike Baker over the head with his night stick in order to subdue him.

In Divorce Court.

The origin of the trouble dates back several years and does not seem to be fully known. Baker at one time shot at his father-in-law, whom he accuses of trying to break up his home.

May 2 Mrs. Miller filed suit for a divorce, alleging cruelty, jealousy and incompatibility of temper. The case was to be tried at this time of court. Baker came into the limelight here several years ago when he put the local officers on the track of a negro who had impersonated an officer, took a 13-year-old white girl from the depot, led her to a lonely spot on the Cottonwood creek, and outraged her. Baker had seen the negro talking to the child and notified the officers.

ABERNATHY BOYS ON FINAL STRETCH FOR NEW YORK

Washington, June 6.—On their long horseback ride from Oklahoma to New York, where they are riding to meet Roosevelt, Louis and Temple Abernathy, nine and 6 years old, sons of United States Marshal "Jack" Abernathy, wolf hunter and friend of Roosevelt, left the national capital Monday morning. Since leaving their home in Oklahoma the little fellows, traveling unaccompanied, have averaged about fifty miles per day. They spent about a week taking in the sights of Washington. While in this city they called on President Taft and also met Speaker Cannon. They rode as far as Baltimore Monday by noon.

NEW FISH FUND STORY

Money He Got Was Spent for Lobby, He Declares to Jury.

Springfield, Ill., June 6.—The testimony of F. J. Traut of Beardstown, to whom the fishermen's fund to defeat the fishing license bill in the last legislature has been traced, was a witness before the grand jury investigating charges of bribery in connection with the bill, today.

Traut's version of the fishermen's fund differed from that he gave Saturday night to State's Attorney Burke when, according to Mr. Burke, he said he kept the money. To the grand jury Traut said he spent the money for the fishermen's lobby against the bill. He was ordered before the jury tomorrow, and meantime Mr. Burke has gone to Beardstown to investigate his story.

E. E. Schweer of Beardstown told the jurors of bringing the money collected to Springfield and giving it to John Dixon, who has already declared he delivered it to Traut. Schweer declared he knew nothing regarding alleged payment of money to defeat the bill. Charles Gridley, attorney, of Virginia, Ill., who represented the fishers in the Springfield lobby, was given a clean bill by Mr. Burke, after he had testified before the grand jury and had declared that his work was purely professional.

Ralph O. Lord, bookkeeper for Henry Lemm of Pekin, one of the contributors to the fish fund, was before the grand jury and identified the check which Lemm gave as his share of the fund.

BIG JUMP IN APRIL BIRTH RATES

State Has 2,057 Births to 700 Deaths. Boys Are Very Popular.

The population of the state of Oklahoma took the biggest jump in months during the month of April, 1910, according to the official figures of the state board of health, which reports 2,057 births, as opposed to 700 deaths.

In the birth list the males were in the majority, with 1,069, females totaling 988. Only fifty-five were black as opposed to 2,002 whites.

The males headed the mortality list with 381, against 319 females; 614 were white and 86 black.

Pneumonia accounted for 113 deaths, typhoid fever, 19, tuberculosis, 59 and smallpox 11 deaths out of 475 cases.

Was in Battle at Waterloo.

London, June 6.—It generally was supposed that every human being present at Waterloo had crossed that bourne from which no traveler returns in Queenstown, Cape Colony, however, there is, or was a couple months ago, still living an old man named Mesdom, now 105 years old, who was a drummer boy at Waterloo. A correspondent who knows Queenstown well forwards a copy of the Queenstown Representative and Free Press of April 22 containing the following paragraph:

"Mr. J. Mesdom, an old resident of Queenstown, who is at present in his 105th year, has been in the Frontier hospital for the last week. He wishes all his friends to know that he is feeling much better, and hopes to be about again soon. At the same time from appearances it seems hardly probable that he will ever leave his bed again, and an old landmark of Queenstown will be missed."

The correspondent knew the old man well, and has no doubt that he really was at Waterloo. The old man's death was reported incorrectly some time ago.

Battle Hymn Composer Dies.

New York, June 6.—Stephen Van Rensselaer Ford, author, editor, composer and critic, a member of one of the oldest families in the central part of the state, died yesterday at his home here. He was 74 years old.

For many years Mr. Ford was connected with the Methodist Book Concern in an editorial capacity, and had been assistant editor of the Methodist Review. He composed several battle hymns which were sung by the Union army. A widow, two daughters and a son survive him.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Sunday afternoon according to announcement, the members of the W. L. Byrd Camp of Confederate Veterans met at the court house, formed line and marched in a body to the First Presbyterian church where at three o'clock they held their annual memorial in commemoration of the lives and services of their comrades who had "passed over the river and rested in the shades of the trees of Paradise," during the past year.

There was special music both instrumental and vocal by Misses Case and Thompson, and among the beautifully impressive selections was a vocal solo by Miss Case, "Death is Only a Dream."

Capt. W. L. Roddie gave an interesting and splendid address on the lives and services of the comrades who had deceased the past year and vindicated the stand they took in the great lost cause. Leslie M. Maxey delivered an address, the theme of which was "The Southern Soldier," the lessons learned from his life and character.

First he gave a complete vindication and justification of the South's action in the matter of secession, establishing the legal, moral and historical right; secondly, he gave the lessons that the heroic Confederate soldier taught us by his example in war, and his noble bearing in defeat.

Prof. Chas. W. Briles was called on to make a talk and he graciously complied with the request after which he gave a reading which he had been taught as a boy by one who wore the grey. To say his remarks, his reading, were greatly appreciated and deeply impressive would be putting it far too mildly.

COUNTY'S DEMURRER SUSTAINED

County Attorney Robt. Wimbish, who is now at Guthrie, phoned W. S. Kerr today that as to the best our understanding, Judge Sandlin of the superior court of Logan county has sustained the demurrer to a petition by which the railroads would injoin the collection of certain taxes in this county. This appears to be a victory for the county in matter of tax collecting. Judge Sandlin also decides that Indians must pay taxes on all their land from which the restrictions have been removed.

NEGRESS GETS "SASSY"

Yesterday evening while Chief Culver was making his rounds he came across a negro woman who evidently thought it an insult to be asked if she were working. She became highly indignant at a question to that effect from the officer and proceeded to give him her unreserved opinion on the matter whereupon he conducted her before the police judge who proceeded to give her some practical advice on civil conduct. She promises to bear it in mind hence forth.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS MEET

The county commissioners met Monday as it was the regular meeting day. There was nothing more than the regular routine of business transacted. As some of the assessors were not ready with their reports business of equalizing taxes was held over. The commissioners adjourned at noon today to meet Monday.

CRAP SHOOTERS FINED

D. L. Crutchie, colored and John Cragin, white, were brought before the police court yesterday evening on the charge of shooting craps. The white man plead guilty and paid the assessed fine, while the negro entered a plea of guilty, and not paying the fine was committed to the city jail.

NOT ISSUES

IN CAMPAIGN

Gubernatorial Candidate, Judge J. B. A. Robertson, Declares the Issues.

A small but attentive audience greeted Judge Robertson of Chandler last night to hear him present his claims to the governorship of Oklahoma. He spoke in a clear cut business manner and his central idea was that the democrats could all unite on him. In his preliminary remarks he prized the friendship of Lee Cruce and Murray, saying they were honest and capable men for the position to which they aspired and assured the audience there would be no mud slinging on his part in the campaign. But that he would not take up time in the discussion of matters which he did not deem issues in the campaign, mentioning as such the pardoning power of the governor, the white slave traffic, and education, saying all were practically agreed on those matters. Continuing he declared that there are some things which the people have a right to know how the candidates stand, pausing to add that he himself being a positive man would deem it a favor to be called out on these subjects during any time of his speech. Among the things he claimed were real issues was the so-called proposed repeal of Sec. 9, Art. 9 of the Oklahoma constitution. On this he dwelt at length and showed by irrefutable argument that the proposed amendment to the Art. 9 should be defeated. He mentioned the fact that a man's training fits or unfits him for a certain station in life, claiming that he was brought up to work for what he had attained, learning the lesson of rigid economy and would practice this lesson if he were exalted to the high office of his aspiration.

Card of Thanks.

To those friends who so kindly assisted us in the last sickness and death of our little daughter Thelma Francis, whose little spirit took its flight at 8:30 last Sunday morning the 5th, we wish to say that words are not sufficient to express our thanks to you, but will always hold you dear to our hearts, and in our memory can see you as you set with us day after day and night after night, to assist us in doing all that human hearts and hands can do, your many acts of kindness will never be forgotten, by us, and will always be remembered as the acts of ministering angels, and shows to us plainly that you are Christians with the spirit of Him who said to visit the widow and the orphan and to administer to the sick and afflicted was pure and undefiled religion, in this hour of sorrow we want to ask your prayers to the end that we may be able to bare up under this great load and that he who only can bring comfort to the broken heart will administer the healing balm to our sad hearts. Again thanking you from the depth of our hearts for your kindness we are your friends, R. C. Roland and Family.

Business needs more confidence based on conviction.

Advertising is only as old as the human race.

Above all things, let us be honest with ourselves.

I see no signs of advertising being overdone, but I think a lot of it underdone.

Advertising is simply the voice of the market-place speaking to all men in the highways and byways.

A theory is just the plan of work before it is done; it is the plan of the building before it is built.

At every stage of business development education is needed on both the buyer's and seller's side of the case.

There is really nothing new in business. The newest things are but combinations of old truths and activities.

I confess to an impatience with the man who pursues a theory through a pot of ink for the mere sport of the chase.

Webster says that business is that which busies one; a pig's tail is busy, but it never does anything. There are a good many pig's tails in business.

I am not impressed with the testimony of the man who said, "he had been in the advertising business for K. C. Wagon Yard."

ten years and knew less today than when he started."

Advertising has created wealth; it has made happiness; it has educated people in business morals; it has educated the people in liberty, and it has carried civilization to the ends of the earth.

MOTHER WOULD GET HER CHILD THROUGH COURT

Guthrie, Okla., June 6.—Seeking to regain possession of her little girl, Nannie, Mrs. Rosa Martin has secured a writ of habeas corpus from the state supreme court.

Mrs. Martin secured a divorce at Pryor Creek and was awarded the custody of the child. She alleges that her former husband, Richard Martin, has kidnapped the little girl and is likely to take her outside the jurisdiction of the state courts.

Martin is now living at Pawhuska and Mrs. Martin in her petition to the supreme court expresses a belief that he has the child concealed in or about that town.

The writ of habeas corpus was issued by Justice John B. Turner, and is directed to any sheriff or other peace officer of the state, directing him to take possession of the child and make return forthwith to Judge T. L. Brown in the district court of Mayes county at Pryor Creek, where the divorce was granted and the decree rendered regarding the custody of the child.

Hair preparations and dandruff cures, as a rule, are sticky or irritating affairs that do no earthly good. Hair, when not diseased, grows naturally, luxuriantly. Dandruff is the cause of nine-tenths of all hair trouble, and dandruff is caused by a germ. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ; and, so far, the only hair preparation that will positively destroy the germ is Newbro's Herpicide—absolutely harmless, free from grease, sediment, dye matter or dangerous drugs. CHARGED WITH KILLING FATHER, MOTHER BROTHER

Marshalltown, Ia., June 6.—A pair of bloody overalls and a bloody hat which the authorities are using as evidence to connect Raymond Hardy with the murder of his father, James Hardy, his mother and brother Earl, who were discovered early this morning with their skulls beaten to a pulp, were found on the Hardy farm here tonight.

Since there was every evidence that an effort had been made to conceal the wearing apparel, the authorities pinned young Hardy down to a statement, and he admitted that he had hidden them in fear that he might be connected with the crime.

The bloody spots were fresh, but they were not wet when found. Young Hardy declared that the spots were caused by chicken blood. He was also asked to explain his whereabouts from the time he left home at 7 o'clock in the evening until he arrived at the home of his affianced bride, Miss Mabel Starnes, whom he was to have married Wednesday. Hardy protests his innocence.

To Re-argue Seizure Case.

Guthrie, Ok., June 7.—Fred S. Caldwell, state enforcement attorney, has been notified that the supreme court of the United States has ordered a re-argument of the cases filed by Governor Haskell and Enforcement Attorney Caldwell, seeking writs of prohibition against Federal Judges Cotter and Campbell of Oklahoma to prevent them from enforcing orders to enjoin state officers from seizing liquors at depots which have come into the state through interstate carriers.

When the case was argued on April 4 only seven of the nine members of the supreme court were present. The court now has ordered a re-argument before the entire court. Mr. Caldwell says he feels encouraged at this action, as it indicates that the supreme court considers the question a serious one and that it will pass upon it directly.

The Oklahoma position is that all interstate shipments of liquors, as soon as delivered at destination, should be subject to seizure for a judicial determination as to whether the shipment is subjected to protection from the interstate commerce laws, or whether it was shipped into the state with intent to violate the state laws and has ceased to be interstate commerce.

Chief Moore of the Weather Bureau Joined in Abuse That Was Being Heaped Upon Him.

On one occasion Prof. Willis Luther Moore, head of the United States weather bureau, traveled from Washington to New York in a smoking compartment with three men who, when he encountered them, were busy engaged in roasting the very bureau of which Moore was the chief. "Why, that fellow Moore," said one of the strangers, "ought to be run out of the government service. He always predicts, but he's generally wrong."

"He's a dub, like all the rest of those fellows," said the second, apparently indicating with a sweep of his hand the whole government service.

"Look what he did last inauguration day!" chimed in the third. "Said it would be clear, and we had enough snow to tie up every railroad system in the country."

Moore, who has a sense of humor, got into the roasting bee at this moment.

"Rotten!" he said demphatically. "I'd like to meet that fellow and tell him what I really think of him."

"But he's got the farmers bluffed," conceded the second speaker.

And so the abuse was heaped on the professor for more than a hundred miles, Moore himself helping in the tirade. Before it was over, the weather bureau and all connected with it had been put in the pan and roasted to a rich dark brown.

When the party left the train, Moore called a taxicab, and so did the other three. Just as the professor stepped into his vehicle and left his companions standing on the sidewalk, he handed them his card, on which was engraved:

"Willis L. Moore, Chief of the Weather Bureau, U. S. A."—Popular Magazine.

SOCIETY PLYING THE NEEDLE

Most Feminine of Implements Comes Into Fashion Again Chiefly as "Rest Cure."

"Those who are quick to observe changes in the moods and tastes of society will tell you," says a writer in the Lady's Pictorial, "that the doing of fine needlework is growing into great favor with even the most fashionable of our mouldaines, whose own fingers are producing work that is fully equal to the best specimens of their much lauded and perhaps over-lauded grandmothers."

"A lady who has had the honor to be the instructress of royalty in this craft says that hundreds come to her for counsel where tens came but a few years ago. The cause of this reversion to the pursuits of a more placid age is not difficult to discover. Such an occupation becomes virtually a 'rest cure' in this epoch of rush and motor cars, and that is why many of those who have been the most indefatigable seekers after novelty and excitement are now among the most industrious Penelopes of society."

"The rhythmic movement that accompanies the plying of the needle is peculiarly soothing to the nerves, and produces much the same effect as the prayers of the Orientals, with their swaying to and fro and their apparently vain repetitions. It is a mistake to suppose that needle work is injurious to the eyesight. Old needle women rarely wear glasses."

Milk Delivery in South Africa.

Until quite recently the dairymen of Salisbury, South Africa, used the native in preference to the usual cart for delivering milk. The native wears a canvas bottleholder, capable of carrying 18 bottles with the minimum risk of breakage. This mode of milk-carrying was really forced upon the dairymen by their losses in the early days from horse sickness, and from the inability of the raw native to handle horses and mules, much less drive the cart itself without capsizing. The last year, however, has seen the passing away of this custom, milk now being delivered in prosaic but businesslike fashion by carts and by boys on bicycles. In the latter case the canvas bottle carriers are still worn.—Wide World Magazine.

Marriages in France.

It is an interesting and noteworthy fact that since the promulgation of the law of June, 1907, the effect of which is to simplify the formalities which are the necessary preliminaries to marriage in France, there have been more weddings in France than at any period since the beginning of the last century, with the exception of the years 1813 and 1872, in the former of which men contracted unions to escape being sent off to fight, while in the latter many weddings took place which had been delayed by the war with Germany.

Plowing by Searchlight.

Several score immense power breaking outfits are at work in western South Dakota, and at points in the Missouri valley east of the river, breaking the prairie at an astonishing rate, which means that many thousands of heretofore raw prairie land in those sections will this year for the first time be devoted to crops.

Some of the power outfits have been provided with day and night crews and with immense searchlights which enable them to be operated in the night as well as in the day, they being kept in operation continuously throughout the 24 hours.—Sioux Falls Correspondence St. Paul Dispatch.

His Mysterious Malady

Bobby sat up and threw off the Afghan impatiently. "I feel fine now," he said. "I guess I'll go out for a while."

His father shook his head. "Hold on a minute," he commanded. "Where are all those perfectly terrible sensations you had yesterday when you stayed home from school?"

"Oh, well, that was a whole day and a night ago," protested Bobby. "A fellow could get well of 'most anything in that time."

"Especially as this is Saturday afternoon," said his father, thoughtfully. "You considered yourself a pretty sick boy yesterday."

"I was," said Bobby. "Gee, I felt something fierce! I never felt worse in my life."

"Then don't you think you ought to be very careful today?"

"If it was going to be anything it would have gone and done it by now," said Bobby. "Besides, I feel swell. I wouldn't 'a' laid down here, only mamma said I had to. I wish I knew what did it."

"What did you do on Thursday that was particularly festive?"

"Well, it was like this," Bobby began. "Nellie Foster she made fudge and, of course, I got some of it. It was swell, all right, only Billy didn't get a big piece and he whispered that there was too much choc'ut in it. I didn't say a word, but teacher she heard somebody whisper and she said for me to go out of the room and wait downstairs for her."

"I said I didn't whisper, and she said: 'What makes you always take that attitude, Robert?'"

"I said I wasn't taking any attitude—all I had was fudge."

"Then she got mad and sent me home, because she said I was impatient."

"Out in the yard I saw Jimmy. His brother's got scarlet fever and he can't come to school, but he waits for us fellows outside. He had an apple and he gave it to me so's I'd tell him something Susie Herrick said. I had enough of Susie Herrick when she was in my room at school, but Jimmy likes her."

"Was it a good apple?"

"No," said Bobby. "But I wouldn't let on that I was stung, so I ate it."

"Did you go home then?"

"Sure not," acknowledged Bobby. "There wasn't any hurry. Me and Jimmy went over to the park and I got some peanuts for the squirrels. We couldn't find any squirrels, so we ate the peanuts ourselves. I'm going to plant peanuts and see how they grow. Billy he planted some last year and then long about July he remembered they were cooked."

"I thought Billy lived in a flat."

"He does, but he borrowed our yard to plant the peanuts. You know that big white house on the corner of aunt Mary's street?"

"Yes."

"Well, who do you s'pose is going to live there? Just Mamie Kelly," said Bobby, triumphantly. "I 'most fell over when she told me. Gee, she'll be more conceited than ever when she's got three lilac bushes and a woodshed in her yard."

"You were telling me what you did Thursday?"

"Oh, so I was. Well, then I got some popcorn and we went home to lunch and I was awful hungry. I ate a lot and I took three bananas to school, so's I wouldn't be hungry in the afternoon. I was going to give one to Billy and one to Nellie Foster, but first thing I knew I ate them all. I was awful sorry I had when Nellie Foster gave me a big piece of choc'ut cake after school. It was some quashed from her carrying it in a bag, but it was awful good. I got her a ice cream cone, but she didn't want it, and I had to eat 'em both myself. I never seen—saw—a girl that didn't like ice cream before."

"It is rather unusual."

"She felt awful bad about it; she was afraid I'd be mad, specially because they was nickel ones, but I didn't care much. Mamie Kelly gave me two big pickles, but the cones was gone by that time, so she didn't get any."

"But you ate the pickles?"

"Yep, I did," acknowledged Bobby, sheepishly. "But I said 'Thanks' just as Sam came along, and she gave him one, too. Then, of course, Sam he gave us some choc'ut creams. Say, there's a place he knows about where you can get lots of 'em for ten cents. Gee, but they're swell!"

"Were they the best things you had that day?"

"I should say not!" cried Bobby, with enthusiasm. "Why, I had three pieces of strawberry shortcake for dinner."

"Well, perhaps it was the shortcake that saved your life."

"Mamma thinks it was the medicine," said Bobby. "I certainly feel fine now. If I stay here I'll just get weaker and weaker till I can't get up, so I'd like to go outdoors. There's a ball game over in the big lot and I'm to pitch."

"Are you sure you ought to go?"

"Oh, yes. I can't see how it helps any to keep a fellow in bed when he gets sick like that without any reason. Anyhow, there's Billy whistling for me."

"All right," laughed his father. "Go ahead, but be careful not to eat any trash today."

Bobby paused a moment at the door. "Honest, papa," he said, seriously. "I'm awful careful what I eat, and I don't like trash. Honest, I don't."

UPRISING IN MEXICO

GOVERNMENT FACING SERIOUS SITUATION WITH MAYAS OF YUCATAN.

BATTLE IS EXPECTED SOON

Troops being Rushed to Scene, Where Police and Judges Have Been Killed.

Vera Cruz, June 6.—The most serious uprising with which the Mexican government has had to deal in a long time has occurred in the state of Yucatan and troops are being rushed to the disturbed area in the meantime, reports which have reached here indicate that there has been much bloodshed and that the insurgents are preparing for a battle with the government forces which is sure to come soon.

The independent newspaper El Dictamen publishes dispatches from Merida, the capital of Yucatan to the effect that forty persons were killed by the Maya Indians on Saturday. Further dispatches received here state that 5,000 of these Indian insurgents sacked the town at Valladolid, ninety-five miles southeast of Merida, killing all the principal government employees, the Chief of Police and others. They seized rifles and pistols and instituted a reign of terror. Many of the inhabitants of Valladolid are fleeing to Merida.

The gunboat Morelos has already left this port with 600 soldiers

aboard while the Yucatan gunboat Zaragoza is lying in the harbor ready to take 1,000 additional troops who are expected soon to arrive from the interior.

Railroad and telegraph communication between Merida and the scene of the trouble is now cut off. Twenty miles of the Yucatan railroad have been destroyed by the Indians.

It is reported that many telegraph operators have been killed or are prisoners. The Judge of the Criminal court is among the dead.

The rebels are strongly entrenched in anticipation of the advance of the federal troops. Maximiliano Ramirez Bonilla, the former rebel leader, and Col. Victor Montenegro are said to be at the head of the uprising.

The towns of Tlaxim, Uayama and Tunkas all between Merida and Valladolid, have been attacked, but the reports say that the families of all the residents, except officials, have been unmolested. To what extent the insurgents pillaged or killed at these places has not yet been learned. A strict censorship has now been established.

Diaz Declines Invitation.

Mexico City, June 6.—President Diaz will not be present at the formal opening of the international bridge connecting Brownsville, Tex. and Matamoros, Mexico on July 21. It was announced tonight at the Foreign Office that he had declined an invitation issued by officials of the construction company to attend the dedication ceremonies but he had authorized the appointment of a commissioner to represent him.

PRESIDENT MADRIZ SENDS REINFORCEMENTS

Termination of War Is Matter of Patience More Than Fighting.

Washington, June 6.—President Madriz is dispatching reinforcements, ammunition, mules and hospital equipment to Gretna, according to information received at the state department from Consul Olivares at Managua. In his telegram the consul expresses doubt of the feasibility of further military operations at this time, as the rainy season has set in.

He also says that Dr. Irias in command of a negro woman who evidently understood to have said the capture of Bluefields Bluff makes the termination of the war in favor of Madriz a question of patience rather than fighting. The state department officials in view of the fact that the revolutionists have won two important engagements within the last few days are unable to understand the basis for Dr. Irias' view of the situation.

China Wants Parliament.

Peking, June 6.—On Wednesday next a formal demand will be made upon the throne for the immediate convocation of a National Parliament. The authors of the exaction to be at the head of the delegates to the Provincial Assemblies who have the support of organizations of merchants. The recently issued imperial decree constituting the Provincial Assemblies set forth that the way was being paved for a general legislative body to be summoned nine years after the first meeting of the assemblies.

Today delegates to the Provincial Assemblies are gathering here with the avowed purpose of exacting the issuance of an imperial decree summoning a national parliament forthwith.

FIREMEN GET INCREASED WAGES

Forty-four Firemen Agree to the Demands of the Union.

Chicago, June 6.—Locomotion firemen on forty-four street and main roads we granted an increase in wages Saturday or about 7 1/2 per cent. or sixty per cent of the demands made last December and agreed to arbitration under the C. I. A. act. About 600 men are involved but all the firemen whether members of the union or not will get the increase. There are about 200 employees on the roads now.

Following are the changes:
Locomotion men in the branch passing a service 15 cents increase per 100 miles or less.

On through or irregular freight mixed gravel work, wheel helpers, pushers, snowplows and branch service (except mallet type of engines) 15 cents advance per 100 miles or less on oil burners 15 cents advance.

On simple engines having cylinder 24 inches or over and compound engines weighing 21,000 pounds or more not less than $3.75. On engines of less size on which more than $3.75 is paid there shall be no increase.

Firemen on local or way freights 25 cents advance per 100 miles or less over through rates established by this arbitration except on roads having an eight-hour day or twelve and a half miles per hour basis for such runs. Firemen on mallet type of engines $4 per 100 miles in all classes of service.

Firemen in yard service, 25 cents advance per day. Where rates of pay are provided for transfer service, an increase of 25 cents per day. On lines where wages are negotiated through the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen committees for hostlers, switch engineers and engine dispatchers, an increase of 25 cents a day.

The increase shall be based on rates of pay in effect January 1, 1910.

Don't Delay.

BOUNDARY LINE BILL DEFEATED

No Roll Call Necessary—The Bill Defeated by Voice Vote Was Sustained.

Washington, June 6.—The House today voted 1 down Representative Stephens' bill providing for the re-arranging of the Texas-Oklahoma-New Mexico boundary lines. The defeat came in a roll call vote so certain that no roll call was necessary. The opposition to the bill was led by Representative Carter of Oklahoma, who contended that the bill had not been modified so as to leave Oklahoma out of the arrangement and it should therefore not participate.

Judge Stephens had provided that land titles should not be disturbed by the survey but this did not satisfy the Oklahomans who did not want to run the risk of losing any land by the survey. This will end all prospect of legislation at this session of congress on this subject.

NEGRO SHOT WHILE UNDER GUARD

Brute Who Had Attempted Criminal Assault on Little Girl Killed While Under Arrest.

Merid, Okla., June 6.—Bill Grubb, also known as (sub) Carson, a negro who attempted a criminal assault on Kicks at a clock Sunday afternoon was a criminal here Monday when he was killed. There is no clue to the slay's identity.

A negro attempted to assault a little girl who resisted him and was shot over the head with a six-shooter. Another girl who was with her was struck on the head with a stone. Grubb came to Merid and was arrested to be shot off in an when he learned that he was suspected. He was taken to Kicks for identification and while being guarded in the rear of Kicks' store still in a shot-gun held by an unidentified man was poked through the door. It was fired and the charge carried Grubb's head away. He fell dead. Neither of the girls was seriously injured.

VOTE AGAINST AMENDMENT

The News has hesitated to become editorially urgent in advocacy of the defeat at the polls next Saturday of the Carter amendment to article 9, section 9 for the reason, we were at first predisposed in its favor and desired to support the enactment of such amendment, if it could consistently, on account of personal attachment for Dorsett Carter, president of the Oklahoma Central Railway, who leads in its support and who declares that unless the amendment carries, he will become financially ruined.

It is now sincerely believed that the success of the Carter Railroad Amendment to section 9 at the polls next Saturday would be very hurtful to the interests of the rank and file of the people and retarding of greater railroad construction and development of Oklahoma. Whether the Carter amendment should carry or be defeated next Saturday should be of grave concern for the question involves much. Viewing it this way, the acting president and secretary of the 25,000 club have called a meeting of the business interests of the city at the court house for tomorrow (Wednesday) night, for the purposes of considering the advisability of taking action on the proposed amendment to section 9, article 9 of the constitution.

DOES SEC. 9, ART. 9 RETARD RAILROAD BUILDING? NO!

Oklahoma held sixth place among the states and territories of the United States in 1909 in railroad construction. She was just 1-2 miles behind fifth place. She is second among the states and territories of the union in new companies chartered during the first four months of 1910.

Texas leads the country in both showing. Taking area into consideration, Oklahoma leads Texas and the entire United States.

The figures supporting these statements are fresh from the press. Slason Thompson of Chicago, a railway statistical expert, has just issued a book entitled, "Railway Statistics in the United States," in which he presents complete figures on railway construction for the calendar year 1909; and the Railway Record, a railway publication published in Chicago, presents figures on new companies and mileage chartered during the first four months of 1910, its figures representing sixteen states, mostly in the south, where the railway activities of the country centers at this time.

Slason Thompson prefaces his book with the explanation that government railway statistics for the past few years seem to have been prepared with the purpose of misleading the public as to financial results of railway operation, and that his work is issued for the purpose of putting before the public the railway's own deductions from the figures they report to the Interstate Commerce Commission. It gives construction mileage for the various states, does not discuss financial results as to the state separately.

It shows that forty-two states and territories built railway during 1909. The total mileage constructed was 4,046 or an average of 96.2 miles for the states showing any construction. Taking all states and territories into consideration the average for the year was 80.8 miles.

Oklahoma is credited with 163.2 miles, which shows this state to have built 57 miles more in 1909 than the average for the states and territories showing results, and 82.4 miles more than the average for all the states. Of the forty-two states showing construction 36 show less mileage than Oklahoma. Five show more, making Oklahoma sixth on the list. Minnesota built 164.7 against Oklahoma's 163.2 miles.

This showing doubtless will be a matter of surprise to many Oklahoma citizens, who have supposed that Oklahoma's strict regulation laws had subjected this state to unfavorable comparison in that particular. A further interesting feature of the comparison is that Texas, with regulation measures in many respects identical with those of Oklahoma, leads the entire country. Furthermore if territorial area be taken into consideration in the comparison, Oklahoma leads Texas.

The other states showing more 1909 mileage construction than Oklahoma are California, Washington and Nevada. All the territories, including Alaska, Arizona, New Mexico and the District of Columbia, show new mileage in 1909. Although conditions in Arizona and New Mexico are inviting for railway investment, there being much agricultural and mining development and no strict regulation of operations, and although their combined area is more than three times that of Oklahoma, this state shows 1909 construction double that of Arizona and New Mexico combined. The states that show no construction of railway whatever in 1909 are Massachusetts, Vermont, Delaware, Rhode Island, Connecticut, and the western states, 19.

People Must Pay Six and Ten Prices for Fuel, Declares Senator, on Floor.

Washington, June 6.—Declaring Alaska had been put in a "straight jacket" by the withdrawal of public lands, Senator Nelson in the senate today sharply criticised the policy of conservation as practiced in that territory. Senator Nelson was discussing the bill authorizing the president to withdraw from entry public lands for public purposes, which he advocated. Mr. Nelson's declaration attracted especial attention because he is chairman of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee.

Mr. Nelson said while he gave his adherence to a conservation policy, he did so only when it was rational and conservative. He would have the public resources so administered as to afford the living generation the opportunity of the full and proper use of them.

"There will be plenty of water power hundreds of years after we are dead," he said. "No man can stop it unless he can stop precipitation from the clouds. Why should our supply of coal be tied up and the people prevented from utilizing that fuel?"

Discussing the application of the conservation policy to Alaska, he dwelt upon the fact that except in the extreme southern part of that territory there was no timber, and that consequently the people were without fuel unless they were allowed to use the coal supply of that region.

"In face of the fact that there are valuable coal fields in various parts of the territory, the people have not been given opportunity to use a ton of it, with the consequence that they are compelled to bring their fuel either from Australia or China or around the Horn from our own eastern states. Hence they are compelled to pay from $12 to $20 per ton when they ought to get it for $2.00."

This he denounced as "conservation run riot." Between the withdrawal for coal deposits, he declared, Alaska, has been put in a straight jacket and is great restricted.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE THEN BLAMES MOTHER-IN-LAW

Oklahoma City, May 6.—Because his wife would not return to him, Bert Shields, 28 years old, tried to commit suicide by drinking morphine at 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning at the home of his wife, 722 East First street.

Shields, who was despondent because his wife had left him and refused to return, bought a small bottle of morphine early Sunday morning and went to his wife's home, where he started to drink it before her. He swallowed a third of the contents before the bottle was knocked out of his hands. Dr. C. E. Looney, city physician, was called and Shields was taken to the city dispensary, where he revived, and was removed to his home.

Shields, who lives at 15 South Webb street, married Miss Stella Young four months ago and according to the story told by Shields at the police station Sunday morning, they had lived happily until last Wednesday night, when her mother came to the house and finally succeeded in persuading his wife to return home with her.

"I went to her mother's home every night since she left me," said Shields "and tried to get her to return home with me. Sometimes she nearly consented to do so, but her mother always stepped in and would not let her go. I wanted to die because I can't live without her."

Mr. Murray in Stillwell

Wm. H. Murray, president of the constitutional convention and speaker of the first legislature of Oklahoma, spoke in the opera house in this city last Friday afternoon. His theme was "Murray for Governor of Oklahoma at the hands of the democrats."

The distinguished speaker was introduced by Representative Thos. L. Rider, and for two hours Mr. Murray held his audience spell-bound with eloquence and logic. His talk was clean and pertinent to the occasion, and without malice expressed or implied to any opposing him. He advocated better roads, good schools, and laws in general to bring happiness to homes. His tribute to home—his ideal of home—brought tears to such old men as Judge B. F. Paden, J. V. McPherson, and a swelling of the heart to most all his hearers. Mr. Murray made many friends by his short visit here, and a larger audience will greet him when he comes again.—Adair County Sentinel, May 19.

WOMAN SHOOT HER HUSBAND

Who Had Stabbed Her Twice—Trenble Originated in Divorce Suit.

Guthrie, Okla., June 6.—To protect herself from her husband, who was lying in wait to kill her and who stabbed her twice before she could break away from him, Mrs. Fannie Baker fired three shots from a thirty-eight caliber revolver at her husband, Flemming C. Baker at 8 o'clock Monday morning.

Two of the shots took effect, one in the right leg near the body and the other in the left side. The man was taken to the Methodist hospital, where attending physicians say he has a chance to recover. Mrs. Baker was taken to the Metropolitan hotel in a serious condition. She is extremely nervous as a result of her wounds and the excitement incident to the affair.

In trying to overpower Baker, Ohio Miller, a patrolman, was cut on the head by the infuriated man, who threatened to kill both the officer and his wife.

Gave Her Warning.
Mrs. Baker was returning to Guthrie from Wichita, where she had been visiting. Baker had written her telling her that he intended to kill her when she returned.

The Guthrie authorities were notified and an officer was detailed to watch Baker. Baker went to the Santa Fe depot Monday morning, evidently expecting his wife's arrival. He was standing at the north end of the depot under the surveillance of a patrolman when the train pulled in.

When Mrs. Baker alighted from the train Baker outran the officer, drawing a knife from his pocket as he drew near his wife. He caught the woman and plunged the blade twice into her body.

Officer Miller reached the man and pulled him away when his wife cried. The officer was obliged to strike Baker over the head with his night stick in order to subdue him.

In Divorce Court.
The origin of the trouble dates back several years and does not seem to be fully known. Baker at one time shot at his father-in-law, whom he accuses of trying to break up his home.

May 2 Mrs. Miller filed suit for a divorce, alleging cruelty, jealousy and incompatibility of temper. The case was to be tried at this time of court. Baker came into the limelight here several years ago when he put the local officers on the track of a negro who had impersonated an officer, took a 13-year-old white girl from the depot, led her to a lonely spot on the Cottonwood creek, and outraged her. Baker had seen the negro talking to the child and notified the officers.

ABERNATHY BOYS ON FINAL STRETCH FOR NEW YORK

Washington, June 6.—On their long horseback ride from Oklahoma to New York, where they are riding to meet Roosevelt, Louis and Temple Abernathy, nine and 6 years old, sons of United States Marshal "Jack" Abernathy, wolf hunter and friend of Roosevelt, left the national capital Monday morning. Since leaving their home in Oklahoma the little fellows, traveling unaccompanied, have averaged about fifty miles per day. They spent about a week taking in the sights of Washington. While in this city they called on President Taft and also met Speaker Cannon. They rode as far as Baltimore Monday by noon.

NEW FISH FUND STORY

Money He Got Was Spent for Lobby, He Declares to Jury.

Springfield, Ill., June 6.—The testimony of F. J. Traut of Beardstown, to whom the fishermen's fund to defeat the fishing license bill in the last legislature has been traced, was a witness before the grand jury investigating charges of bribery in connection with the bill, today.

Traut's version of the fishermen's fund differed from that he gave Saturday night to State's Attorney Burke when, according to Mr. Burke, he said he kept the money. To the grand jury Traut said he spent the money for the fishermen's lobby against the bill. He was ordered before the jury tomorrow, and meantime Mr. Burke has gone to Beardstown to investigate his story.

E. E. Schweer of Beardstown told the jurors of bringing the money collected to Springfield and giving it to John Dixon, who has already declared he delivered it to Traut. Schweer declared he knew nothing regarding alleged payment of money to defeat the bill. Charles Gridley, attorney, of Virginia, Ill., who represented the fishers in the Springfield lobby, was given a clean bill by Mr. Burke, after he had testified before the grand jury and had declared that his work was purely professional.

Ralph O. Lord, bookkeeper for Henry Lemm of Pekin, one of the contributors to the fish fund, was before the grand jury and identified the check which Lemm gave as his share of the fund.

BIG JUMP IN APRIL BIRTH RATES

State Has 2,057 Births to 700 Deaths. Boys Are Very Popular.

The population of the state of Oklahoma took the biggest jump in months during the month of April, 1910, according to the official figures of the state board of health, which reports 2,057 births, as opposed to 700 deaths.

In the birth list the males were in the majority, with 1,069, females totaling 988. Only fifty-five were black as opposed to 2,002 whites.

The males headed the mortality list with 331, against 319 females; 614 were white and 86 black.

Pneumonia accounted for 113 deaths, typhoid fever, 19, tuberculosis, 59 and smallpox 11 deaths out of 475 cases.

Was in Battle of Waterloo.

London, June 6.—It generally was supposed that every human being present at Waterloo had crossed that bourne from which no traveler returns in Queenstown, Cape Colony, however, there is, or was a couple months ago, still living an old man named Mesdom, now 105 years old, who was a drummer boy at Waterloo. A correspondent who knows Queenstown well forwards a copy of the Queenstown Representative and Free Press of April 22 containing the following paragraph:

"Mr. J. Mesdom, an old resident of Queenstown, who is at present in his 105th year, has been in the Frontier hospital for the last week. He wishes all his friends to know that he is feeling much better, and hopes to be about again soon. At the same time from appearances it seems hardly probable that he will ever leave his bed again, and an old landmark of Queenstown will be missed."

The correspondent knew the old man well, and has no doubt that he really was at Waterloo. The old man's death was reported incorrectly some time ago.

Battle Hymn Composer Dies.

New York, June 6.—Stephen Van Rensselaer Ford, author, editor, composer and critic, a member of one of the oldest families in the central part of the state, died yesterday at his home here. He was 74 years old. For many years Mr. Ford was connected with the Methodist Book Concern in an editorial capacity, and had been assistant editor of the Methodist Review. He composed several battle hymns which were sung by the Union army. A widow, two daughters and a son survive him.

NOT ISSUES IN CAMPAIGN

Sunday afternoon according to announcement, the members of the W. L. Byrd Camp of Confederate Veterans met at the court house, formed line and marched in a body to the First Presbyterian church where at three o'clock they held their annual memorial in commemoration of the lives and services of their comrades who had "passed over the river and rested in the shades of the trees of Paradise," during the past year.

There was special music both instrumental and vocal by Misses Case and Thompson, and among the beautifully impressive selections was a vocal solo by Miss Case, "Death is Only a Dream."

Capt. W. L. Roddie gave an interesting and splendid address on the lives and services of the comrades who had deceased the past year and vindicated the stand they took in the great lost cause. Leslie M. Maxey delivered an address, the theme of which was "The Southern Soldier," the lessons learned from his life and character.

First he gave a complete vindication and justification of the South's action in the matter of secession, establishing the legal, moral and historical right; secondly, he gave the lessons that the heroic Confederate soldier taught us by his example in war, and his noble bearing in defeat.

Prof. Chas. W. Bries was called on to make a talk and he graciously complied with the request after which he gave a reading which he had been taught as a boy by one who wore the grey. To say his remarks, his reading, were greatly appreciated and deeply impressive would be putting it far too mildly.

COUNTY'S DE-MURDER SUSTAINED

County Attorney Robt. Wimbish, who is now at Guthrie, phoned W. S. Kerr today that as to the best our understanding, Judge Sandlin of the superior court of Logan county has sustained the demurrer to a petition by which the railroads would injoin the collection of certain taxes in this county. This appears to be a victory for the county in matter of tax collecting. Judge Sandlin also decides that Indians must pay taxes on all their land from which the restrictions have been removed.

NEGRESS GETS "SASSY"

Yesterday evening while Chief Culver was making his rounds he came across a negro woman who evidently thought it an insult to be asked if she were working. She became highly indignant at a question to that effect from the officer and proceeded to give him her unreserved opinion on the matter whereupon he conducted her before the police judge who proceeded to give her some practical advice on civil conduct. She promises to bear it in mind hence forth.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS MEET

The county commissioners met Monday as it was the regular meeting day. There was nothing more than the regular routine of business transacted. As some of the assessors were not ready with their reports business of equalizing taxes was held over. The commissioners adjourned at noon today to meet Monday.

CRAP SHOOTERS FINED

D. L. Crutchie, colored and John Cragin, white, were brought before the police court yesterday evening on the charge of shooting craps. The white man plead guilty and paid the assessed fine, while the negro entered a plea of guilty, and not paying the fine was committed to the city jail.

NOT ISSUES IN CAMPAIGN

Gubernatorial Candidate, Judge J. B. A. Robertson, Declares the Issues.

A small but attentive audience greeted Judge Robertson of Chandler last night to hear him present his claims to the governorship of Oklahoma. He spoke in a clear cut business manner and his central idea was that the democrats could all unite on him. In his preliminary remarks he prized the friendship of Lee Cruce and Murray, saying they were honest and capable men for the position to which they aspired and assured the audience there would be no mud slinging on his part in the campaign. But that he would not take up time in the discussion of matters which he did not deem issues in the campaign, mentioning as such the pardoning power of the governor, the white slave traffic, and education, saying all were practically agreed on those matters. Continuing he declared that there are some things which the people have a right to know how the candidates stand, pausing to add that he himself being a positive man would deem it a favor to be called out on these subjects during any time of his speech. Among the things he claimed were real issues was the so-called proposed repeal of Sec. 9, Art. 9 of the Oklahoma constitution. On this he dwelt at length and showed by irrefutable argument that the proposed amendment to the Art. 9 should be defeated. He mentioned the fact that a man's training fits or unfits him for a certain station in life, claiming that he was brought up to work for what he had attained, learning the lesson of rigid economy and would practice this lesson if he were exalted to the high office of his aspiration.

Card of Thanks.

To those friends who so kindly assisted us in the last sickness and death of our little daughter Thelma Francis, whose little spirit took its flight at 8:30 last Sunday morning the 5th, we wish to say that words are not sufficient to express our thanks to you, but will always hold you dear to our hearts, and in our memory can see you as you set with us day after day and night after night, to assist us in doing all that human hearts and hands can do, your many acts of kindness will never be forgotten, by us, and will always be remembered as the acts of ministering angels, and shows to us plainly that you are Christians with the spirit of Him who said to visit the widow and the orphan and to administer to the sick and afflicted was pure and undefiled religion, in this hour of sorrow we want to ask your prayers to the end that we may be able to bare up under this great load and that he who only can bring comfort to the broken heart will administer the healing balm to our sad hearts. Again thanking you from the depth of our hearts for your kindness we are your friends, R. C. Roland and Family. June 7, 1910.

HON. J. W. DEAN, VERY ILL FOR 5 WEEKS CONVALESCING

Hon J. W. Dean, who has been ill for five weeks today, is slowly convalescing and it will not be long until he can be among his friends again and engaged with his duties as assistant county attorney.

Mr. Dean's professional friends and, in deed, all who know him have been much concerned in their regard for his early recovery since he has been ill.

The community will sympathize with Mrs. Dean, for besides the long illness of her husband the baby has been and continues seriously ill.

Business needs more confidence based on conviction.

Advertising is only as old as the human race.

Above all things, let us be honest with ourselves.

I see no signs of advertising being overdone, but I think a lot of it is underdone.

Advertising is simply the voice of the market-place speaking to all men in the highways and byways.

A theory is just the plan of work before it is done; it is the plan of the building before it is built.

At every stage of business development education is needed on both the buyer's and seller's side of the case.

There is really nothing new in business. The newest things are but combinations of old truisms and activities.

I confess to an impatience with the man who pursues a theory through a pot of ink for the mere sport of the chase.

Webster says that business is that which busies one; a pig's tail is busy, but it never does anything. There are a good many pig's tails in business.

I am not impressed with the testimony of the man who said, "he had been in the advertising business for ten years and knew less today than when he started."

Advertising has created wealth; it has made happiness; it has educated people in business morals; it has educated the people in liberty, and it has carried civilization to the ends of the earth.

MOTHER WOULD GET HER CHILD THROUGH COURT

Guthrie, Okla., June 6.—Seeking to regain possession of her little girl, Nannie, Mrs. Rosa Martin has secured a writ of habeas corpus from the state supreme court.

Mrs. Martin secured a divorce at Pryor Creek and was awarded the custody of the child. She alleges that her former husband, Richard Martin, has kidnapped the little girl and is likely to take her outside the jurisdiction of the state courts.

Martin is now living at Pawhuska and Mrs. Martin in her petition to the supreme court expresses a belief that he has the child concealed in or about that town.

The writ of habeas corpus was issued by Justice John B. Turner, and is directed to any sheriff or other peace officer of the state, directing him to take possession of the child and make return forthwith to Judge T. L. Brown in the district court of Mayes county at Pryor Creek, where the divorce was granted and the decree rendered regarding the custody of the child.

FATHER, MOTHER BROTHER

Marshalltown, Ia., June 6.—A pair of bloody overalls and a bloody hat which the authorities are using as evidence to connect Raymond Hardy with the murder of his father, James Hardy, his mother and brother Earl, who were discovered early this morning with their skulls beaten to a pulp, were found on the Hardy farm here tonight.

Since there was every evidence that an effort had been made to conceal the wearing apparel, the authorities pinned young Hardy down to a statement, and he admitted that he had hidden them in fear that he might be connected with the crime.

The bloody spots were fresh, but they were not wet when found. Young Hardy declared that the spots were caused by chicken blood. He was also asked to explain his whereabouts from the time he left home at 7 o'clock in the evening until he arrived at the home of his affianced bride, Miss Mabel Starnes, whom he was to have married Wednesday. Hardy protests his innocence.

To Re-argue Seizure Case.

Guthrie, Ok., June 7.—Fred S. Caldwell, state enforcement attorney, has been notified that the supreme court of the United States has ordered a re-argument of the cases filed by Governor Haskell and Enforcement Attorney Caldwell, seeking writs of prohibition against Federal Judges Cotter and Campbell of Oklahoma to prevent them from enforcing orders to enjoin state officers from seizing liquors at depots which have come into the state through interstate carriers.

When the case was argued on April 4 only seven of the nine members of the supreme court were present. The court now has ordered a re-argument before the entire court. Mr. Caldwell says he feels encouraged at this action, as it indicates that the supreme court considers the question a serious one and that it will pass upon it directly.

The Oklahoma position is that all interstate shipments of liquors, as soon as delivered at destination, should be subject to seizure for a judicial determination as to whether the shipment is subjected to protection from the interstate commerce laws, or whether it was shipped into the state with intent to violate the state laws and has ceased to be interstate commerce.

Chief Moore of the Weather Bureau joined in Abuse That Was Being Heaped Upon Him.

On one occasion Prof. Willis Luther Moore, head of the United States weather bureau, traveled from Washington to New York in a smoking compartment with three men who, when he encountered them, were busily engaged in roasting the very bureau of which Moore was the chief.

"Why, that fellow Moore," said one of the strangers, "ought to be run out of the government service. He always predicts, but he's generally wrong."

"He's a dub, like all the rest of those fellows," said the second, apparently indicating with a sweep of his hand the whole government service.

"Look what he did last inauguration day!" chimed in the third. "Said it would be clear, and we had enough snow to tie up every railroad system in the country."

Moore, who has a sense of humor, got into the roasting bee at this moment.

"Rotten!" he said demphatically. "I'd like to meet that fellow and tell him what I really think of him."

"But he's got the farmers bluffed," conceded the second speaker.

And so the abuse was heaped on the professor for more than a hundred miles, Moore himself helping in the tirade. Before it was over, the weather bureau and all connected with it had been put in the pan and roasted to a rich dark brown.

When the party left the train, Moore called a taxicab, and so did the other three. Just as the professor stepped into his vehicle and left his companions standing on the sidewalk, he handed them his card, on which was engraved:

"Willis L. Moore, Chief of the Weather Bureau, U. S. A."—Popular Magazine.

SOCIETY PLYING THE NEEDLE

Most Feminine of Implements Comes into Fashion Again Chiefly as "Rest Cure."

"Those who are quick to observe changes in the moods and tastes of society will tell you," says a writer in the Lady's Pictorial, "that the doing of fine needlework is growing into great favor with even the most fashionable of our mondaines, whose own fingers are producing work that is fully equal to the best specimens of their much lauded and perhaps over-lauded grandmothers."

"A lady who has had the honor to be the instructress of royalty in this craft says that hundreds come to her for counsel where tens came but a few years ago. The cause of this reversion to the pursuits of a more placid age is not difficult to discover. Such an occupation becomes virtually a 'rest cure' in this epoch of rush and motor cars, and that is why many of those who have been the most indefatigable seekers after novelty and excitement are now among the most industrious Penelopes of society."

"The rhythmic movement that accompanies the plying of the needle is peculiarly soothing to the nerves, and produces much the same effect as the prayers of the Orientals, with their swaying to and fro and their apparently vain repetitions. It is a mistake to suppose that needle work is injurious to the eyesight. Old needle women rarely wear glasses."

Milk Delivery in South Africa.

Until quite recently the dairymen of Salisbury, South Africa, used the native in preference to the usual cart for delivering milk. The native wears a canvas bottleholder, capable of carrying 18 bottles with the minimum risk of breakage. This mode of milk-carrying was really forced upon the dairymen by their losses in the early days from horse sickness, and from the inability of the raw native to handle horses and mules, much less drive the cart itself without capsizing. The last year, however, has seen the passing away of this custom, milk now being delivered in prosaic but businesslike fashion by carts and by boys on bicycles. In the latter case the canvas bottle carriers are still worn.—Wide World Magazine.

Marriages in France.

It is an interesting and noteworthy fact that since the promulgation of the law of June, 1897, the effect of which is to simplify the formalities which are the necessary preliminaries to marriage in France, there have been more weddings in France than at any period since the beginning of the last century, with the exception of the years 1813 and 1872, in the former of which men contracted unions to escape being sent off to fight, while in the latter many weddings took place which had been delayed by the war with Germany.

Plowing by Searchlight.

Several score immense power breaking outfits are at work in western South Dakota, and at points in the Missouri valley east of the river, breaking the prairie at an astonishing rate, which means that many thousands of heretofore raw prairie land in those sections will this year for the first time be devoted to crops.

Some of the power outfits have been provided with day and night crews and with immense searchlights which enable them to be operated in the night as well as in the day, they being kept in operation continuously throughout the 24 hours.—Sioux Falls Correspondence St. Paul Dispatch.

His Mysterious Malady

Bobby sat up and threw off the Afghan impatiently. "I feel fine now," he said. "I guess I'll go out for awhile."

His father shook his head. "Hold on a minute," he commanded. "Where are all those perfectly terrible sensations you had yesterday when you stayed home from school?"

"Oh, well, that was a whole day and a night ago," protested Bobby. "A feller could get well of 'most anything in that time."

"Especially as this is Saturday afternoon," said his father, thoughtfully. "You considered yourself a pretty sick boy yesterday."

"I was," said Bobby. "Gee, I felt something fierce! I never felt worse in my life."

"Then don't you think you ought to be very careful today?" "If it was going to be anything it would have gone and done it by now," said Bobby. "Besides, I feel swell. I wouldn't 'a' laid down here, only mamma said I had to. I wish I knew what did it."

"What did you do on Thursday that was particularly festive?"

"Well, it was like this," Bobby began. "Nellie Foster she made fudge, and, of course, I got some of it. It was swell, all right, only Billy didn't get a big piece and he whispered that there was too much choc'lat in it. I didn't say a word, but teacher she heard somebody whisper and she said for me to go out of the room and wait downstairs for her."

"I said I didn't whisper, and she said: 'What makes you always take that attitude, Robert?'"

"I said I wasn't taking any attitude—all I had was fudge."

"Then she got mad and sent me home, because she said I was impatient."

"Out in the yard I saw Jimmy. His brother's got scarlet fever and he can't come to school, but he waits for us fellers outside. He had an apple and he gave it to me so's I'd tell him something Susie Herrick when she was in my room at school, but Jimmy likes her."

"Was it a good apple?"

"No," said Bobby. "But I wouldn't let on that I was stung, so I ate it."

"Did you go home then?"

"Sure not," acknowledged Bobby. "There wasn't any hurry. Me and Jimmy went over to the park and I got some peanuts for the squirrels. We couldn't find any squirrels, so we ate the peanuts ourselves. I'm going to plant peanuts and see how they grow. Billy he planted some last year and we watched for 'em to come up, and then long about July he remembered they were cooked."

"I thought Billy lived in a flat."

"He does, but he borrowed our yard to plant the peanuts. You know that big white house on the corner of aunt Mary's street?"

"Yes."

"Well, who do you s'pose is going to live there? Just Mamie Kelly!" said Bobby, triumphantly. "I 'most fell over when she told me. Gee, she'll be more concealed than ever when she's got three lilac bushes and a woodshed in her yard."

"You were telling me what you did Thursday?"

"Oh, so I was. Well, then I got some popcorn and we went home to lunch and I was awful hungry. I ate a lot and I took three bananas to school, so's I wouldn't be hungry in the afternoon. I was going to give one to Billy and one to Nellie Foster, but first thing I knew I ate them all. I was awful sorry I had when Nellie Foster gave me a big piece of choc'lat cake after school. It was some quashed from her carrying it in a bag, but it was awful good. I got her a ice cream cone, but she didn't want it, and I had to eat 'em both myself. I never seen—saw—a girl that didn't like ice cream before."

"It is rather unusual."

"She felt awful bad about it; she was afraid I'd be mad, specially because they was nickel ones, but I didn't care much. Mamie Kelly gave me two big pickles, but the cones was gone by that time, so she didn't get any."

"But you ate the pickles?"

"Yep, I did," acknowledged Bobby, sheepishly. "But I said 'Thanks' just as Sam came along, and she gave him one, too. Then, of course, Sam he gave us some choc'lat creams. Say, there's a place he knows about where you can get lots of 'em for ten cents. Gee, but they're swell!"

"Were they the best things you had that day?"

"I should say not!" cried Bobby, with enthusiasm. "Why, I had three pieces of strawberry shortcake for dinner."

"Well, perhaps it was the shortcake that saved your life."

"Mamma thinks it was the medicine," said Bobby. "I certainly feel fine now. If I stay here I'll just get weaker and weaker till I can't get up, so I'd like to go outdoors. There's a ball game over in the big lot and I'm to pitch."

"Are you sure you ought to go?"

"Oh, yes. I can't see how it helps any to keep a feller in bed when he gets sick like that without any reason. Anyhow, there's Billy whistling for me."

"All right," laughed his father. "Go ahead, but be careful not to eat any trash today."

Bobby paused a moment at the door. "Honest, papa," he said, seriously. "I'm awful careful what I eat, and I don't like trash. Honest, I don't."
